Ferry Strike Affects City's Tourist Trade

Black Ball Tie-up Expected to Curtail Travel On Island

Hope for Settlement

Victoria is vitally affected by the seamen's strike involving Puget Sound ferry lines with the withdrawal of three services linking the Washington mainland with Vancouver Island.

When the strike went into effect overnight the Seattle-Victoria, Port Angeles-Victoria and Anacortes-Sidney ferry services of the Black Ball Line automatically stopped. The steamers affected in the Vancouver Island service are the Iroquois, operating from Seattle; the Olympic, maintaining three round-trip sailings daily from Port Angeles and the Bainbridge and Crossline, linking up Anacortes with Sidney.

The local offices of the Black Ball Line were besieged first thing this morning by tourists seeking refunds or transfer of tickets over other lines.

"We are hoping there will be a settlement soon," said A. C. Stickley, general agent for the Puget Sound Navigation Company.

TOURIST LOSS

Steamship and tourist authorities here were agreed today that the suspension of the ferry services due to the strike will have the effect of seriously curtailing the city's seasonal tourist business, which is now at its peak.

"We are very much concerned over the possible loss of tourist business which may result from the closing down of the ferry services," said George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, this morning.

The city hotels and tourist resorts of the island will suffer unless the strike is settled promptly. "We are hoping that Governor Clarence D. Martin and United States Federal Mediator W. T. Guerts will be able to bring about a settlement of the dispute quickly."

The Black Ball strike called today had the effect of boosting the business handled by the Canadian Pacific boats plying between Victoria and Seattle.

Ss. Princess Joan, which has a capacity of 50 cars, took out about 30, and her passenger accommodation was well filled, although not taxed.

Ss. Princess Marguerite, sailing at 5 this afternoon, had a heavier booking of cars and passengers. It was stated at the offices of the B.C. Coast Service today that the usual seasonal business was being handled aboard the company's steamers.

The ferry strike situation as it stands late today is contained in the following news dispatch from Seattle:

Ferry service to Puget Sound points was drastically curtailed today by a strike of the employees of the two major companies, the Black Ball lines and the Kitsap County Transportation Company. The strike affects 450 employees.

The strike went into effect at midnight when last-minute efforts of Governor Clarence D. Martin and Federal Mediator W. T. Guerts to effect a settlement failed.

Earlier in the evening the Inland Boatmen's Union announced its members had rejected terms offered by the Puget Sound Navigation Company, parent company of the two ferry lines.

The tieup affects approxi-

Beer Parlor Vote Here On August 24

Provincial Government Grants Plebiscite In Response to Petition

Voters of Victoria will go to the polls on August 24 to decide, for the third time, whether or not they want beer parlors in the city.

A government order calling the vote in response to a petition filed by the Victoria Moderation League was signed today. It names H. E. A. Courtney returning officer and sets September 25 as the final date for return of the writ.

Voting, it was announced, will be done under the new system of precincts, into which the city has recently been divided for provincial election purposes. There are 100 divisions within the city limits and each will have a polling station in a private house. The plebiscite is confined strictly to the city proper.

A 55 per cent affirmative vote is required to approve the sale of beer by the glass in the city.

Approximately 10,000 Seattle residents and workers, who commute to their jobs, including 2,000 employees at the Puget Sound navy yard at Bremerton.

It also affects a heavy tourist traffic between Seattle and picturesque San Juan Island points and Victoria, B.C.

FORCED OPERATION ASKED
A ferry users' committee, representing communities affected by the strike, informed the union today it would demand of Governor Martin that the state force the operation of the ferries.

A committee of navy yard workers living in Seattle was working on a proposal that the government obtain the use of a coastguard cutter to transport them to and from work. It is understood the union and ferry company would be asked to approve the plan.

Governor Martin made a flying trip here from Spokane to confer with Guerts and the union committee. The meeting broke up at 11:15 p.m. without reaching an agreement, but it was indicated another meeting would be held today.

SETTLEMENT BASIS

After the conference with the Governor, Capt. John M. Fox, secretary of the union and a member of its negotiating committee, said the committee had proposed as a basis of settlement the following points, all of which he said represented a sharp decrease from the original demands of the union:

1. Five dollar increase in pay for unlicensed personnel. (The union had originally asked $10).
2. A week vacation with pay after 12 months of continuous service.
3. Elimination of the three-fourths wage scale, which he explained meant a full guarantee of full wages for all full time employees.
4. Establishment of the principle of seniority and dismissal pay for employees in event of the discontinuance of service.

There was a flurry of excitement today when angered commuters of Vashon Island attempted to seize the ferry Vashon.

In a mass protest Vashon Island residents, armed with clubs, axe handles and rocks, attempted to seize the ferry as it arrived on its final trip near midnight. Deputy Sheriff F. J. Shattuck warned them to lay down their weapons, but 30 got aboard before it pulled out.

They got a ride to Harper and the boat was tied up there. The residents protested cessation of service would prevent marketing the peach crop.

Capt. John M. Fox, secretary of the Inland Boatmen's Union, said this forenoon he believed an offer the union made last night in a meeting with Governor Clarence D. Martin and W. T. Guerts, federal mediator, would give a basis of a settlement soon.

Capt. Alex. M. Peabody, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Company and the Kitsap County Transportation Company, the major lines affected, said he believed the demands were still "out of line" but he thought an agreement could be reached by the weekend.

Robbery in Vancouver
VANCOUVER (CP)—Jack Harrison of Mission, B.C., was strangled by a lone thug here early today and robbed of $60. Harrison said he had been hit with a blunt instrument.

Anything short of this will result in defeat.

A total of 15,665 persons are eligible to cast ballots on the issue, being those who were properly registered at the last Court of Revision on July 17. This month's Court of Revision is automatically canceled.

Out of these voters 6,423 signed the petition presented to the government by the Moderation League. This was well over the 35 per cent required by the statute.

The vote will be the second occasion since the general beer vote of 1924 that Victorians have marked their ballots on the beer issue. The city has remained dry ever since government control came into effect. The last time was in January, 1931.

The vote in the general plebiscite of 1924 was 5,693 in favor and 7,627 against.

In the 1931 vote 3,371 marked their ballots in favor and 5,046 were against.

QUEBEC TOWN WOULD BAR JEWS

Committee Formed At Ste. Agathe to Direct Property Sales

STE. AGATHE DES MONTS, Que. (CP)—Residents of this French-Canadian town in the Laurentians want to keep it "as much as possible a community of our own people," Mgr. J. B. Bazinet, parish priest, said today.

"A committee of leading residents is being formed here to keep a hand on the sale of property," the priest said. "The committee, which will be consulted and will check up on the desirability of each person who wants to buy property here, will try as much as possible to keep the property out of Jewish hands."

"No, there are no Fascist tendencies in the district. The people are not trying to banish anyone. But this is our land, we were the first occupants and want to keep it as much as possible a community for our own people."

He said the committee would include about 10 French-speaking and English-speaking residents.

(At a meeting last night members of the town council adopted a resolution to the effect that "a committee be chosen, charged with grouping the principal citizens of St. Agathe, to study the situation involving Jews in this town and to take the necessary means to remedy it.")

Two Vancouver Constables Face Charge in Court

Remanded Till Tomorrow On Accusation of Accepting Rum Bribe

To Engage Counsel

VANCOUVER (CP)—Constables E. Pinkerton and H. Hamilton, facing charges of demanding and accepting a bribe, consisting of two bottles of rum, were remanded until Thursday when they appeared in police court here today.

The two officers, suspended from the Vancouver police force yesterday, requested the adjournment. They announced they would be represented by counsel.

They were charged yesterday after detectives assigned by City Prosecutor Oscar Orr had investigated charges made by Mayor Lyle Telford against the two policemen.

At the City Hall, meanwhile, Mayor Telford is drafting his charges against Chief Constable W. W. Foster and when completed they will be heard at a public inquiry here next week, ordered by the Vancouver Police Commission.

The mayor has said the charges against the chief concern efficiency of the force.

The mayor told questioners he failed to see why he should not sit as a member of the commission during the inquiry despite the fact he is the complainant.

British Firmness

War Brake, Says Eden

LONDON (CP)—Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, believes that if Germany and Italy can be convinced of the "true temper" of the British people there will be no war.

In a letter to his constituents as Parliament neared its summer recess Mr. Eden said: "We are in a period of war of nerves and a prolonged testing lies ahead of us. There is only one task for British statesmanship today—to convince the rulers of the peoples of Germany and Italy of the unshakable firmness of our determination. "If we can do this, if we can convince others of what we know to be the true temper of the British people, there will be no war."

OTTAWA (CP)—E. M. Johnston, supervisor of farm mortgages, has been appointed supervisor of the Central Mortgage Bank, it was announced here today.

U.S. Employees' Politics Limited But Act Not Gag

Roosevelt Signs Bill and Says It Must Be Enforced Wisely

Would Include States

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Roosevelt signed into law today the Hatch Bill regulating political activity of most federal employees, but told Congress emphatically the people of the United States would not stand for its enforcement as a "gag act."

"It is because for so many years I have striven in public life and in private life for decency in political campaigns, both on the part of government servants, of candidates, of newspapers, of corporations and of individuals that I regard this new legislation as at least a step in the right direction," he said.

Mr. Roosevelt recommended that Congress study next session extension of the measure to cover state and local government employees.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Carl Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico.

Mr. Roosevelt enumerated a long list of actions which federal employees could, in his opinion, take without jeopardizing their positions under the law. Among these were voluntary political contributions, speeches and attendance at meetings.

Noting that policy-making federal officials and members of Congress are exempted, the President said it would hardly be fair to permit these groups, or newspapers, magazines or radio broadcasters to make political attacks on persons covered by the law without permitting replies.

"That, I repeat, would be unfair," he said.

ANSWERS EXPECTED

"It is, therefore, my considered opinion, that all federal employees, from the highest to the lowest, have the right publicly to answer any attack or misrepresentation, provided, of course, they do not make such reply as part of active participation in political campaigns."

The act, sought by Senator Hatch for nearly two years, prohibits all federal jobholders except policy-making officials from participating in politics in any way except to vote, on threat of removal from office. This will apply particularly to United States attorneys, marshals and customs and revenue collectors who in the past have been delegates to presidential nominating conventions.

Oil Companies Move To Block Price Cut

To Apply Before Chief Justice for Injunction; Appeal Pending

Oil companies, opposing the government's gasoline price-fixing plans, moved swiftly late yesterday in an effort to block the three-cent-a-gallon reduction ordered for next Monday from going into effect.

Notice of motion was filed on behalf of the companies that they will apply to the Court of Appeal for a continuation of the Manson injunction until litigation now pending on the validity of the price-fixing law is disposed of by the Supreme Court of Canada.

The notice was served on Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board, just before 5 yesterday afternoon.

Hearing of the application is scheduled for 11 Friday morning, probably before Chief Justice Archer Martin.

Attorney-General Wismer will represent the government personally. T. E. H. Ellis represents the oil companies.

Taking the action are the same group of companies who are contesting the validity of the price law. They are the Home Oil Company, Imperial Oil Company, Signal Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, Texas Oil Company, Union Oil Company, Pender Garage Ltd. and Roy Stewart Ltd. Dr. Carrothers and Attorney-General Wismer are named on the other side.

The motion asks that the Manson injunction be continued, or in the alternative, a new restraining order issued to stop the government from fixing the gasoline price.

The Manson injunction was dissolved when the Court of Appeal upheld the validity of the price-fixing law.

Kept Alive On Grains of Rice

Alexander Walker Had Real Nerve, Says Edwin Akenhead, Rescuer

"He certainly had plenty of nerve. It was his marvelous stamina and the grit he displayed that brought him out alive," said Edwin Akenhead, 3124 Quadra Street, today, recounting the thrilling rescue of Alexander Walker, 65-year-old Victoria machinist, from the Comox Glacier region in the Forbidden Plateau.

Walker, stricken with malaria brought on by mosquito bites, while he was on a prospecting trip in the Cruikshank Canyon area, lay on a precipitous mountain side without food for four and a half days before he was rescued.

He chewed five grains of rice which he found in his pocket and partially quenched his thirst by a trickle of water which later petered out.

By this means he sustained life until rescuers finally reached him.

Akenhead, who returned to Victoria late yesterday, is first aid man for the Comox Logging Company at Forbush and Willemans Lakes, better known as the Little or Trout Lakes.

The rescue party with Akenhead was composed of Dave Aitken, who was prospecting with Walker and who fought his way out of the rugged country to secure aid; George Surgenor, Dick Harding, Sam Telosky, Dave Thomson, Wallace Baikie and Provincial Constable Jimmy Osman.

Walker, who is resting at the Comox home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert High, plans to return to his home on Atkins Road, Langford, within a day or two, accompanied by his wife.

He was formerly employed by Yarrow's Ltd. at Esquimalt and assisted in installing the diesels in the minesweeper Nootka. Two years ago he was employed as a machinist foreman by the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd.

Interested in geology, Walker, with Aitken, penetrated into the Cruikshank River country on a prospecting trip. He intended spending four days there, but remained two weeks.

Subject to malaria, which he contracted in Panama in 1904, Walker collapsed while attempting to make his way out of the Forbidden Plateau area.

Aitken left his companion on a ledge of rock, sheltered from the sun, and after encountering almost insurmountable obstacles, reached the head of Comox Lake.

The rescue expedition set out from the Comox logging camp at 8 Wednesday morning and Walker was finally reached at 5 Thursday evening.

CHEWED RICE GRAINS
"It was 11 at night when we reached Walker and got him out of the hole," said Akenhead. "We found him in fairly good shape, lying on a sloping ledge of devil's club. He had been without food for four and a half days, apart from five grains of rice which he found in his pocket and chewed. There was a trickle of water nearby, but it dried up overnight."

"When we reached Walker I gave him a drink of water and spilled some of it. Walker showed his grit by telling me not to waste it as it was too valuable."

Akenhead said the plane carry-

TOO FEW POLICE FOR MASS EVICTIONS

Attorney-General Will Tell Court Why Nelson Sheriff Not Acting

VANCOUVER (CP)—Opposing an application for the removal of Sheriff Nelson for alleged failure to evict Doukhobors from lands which have been foreclosed in the south Kootenay district, the Attorney-General will contend in the B.C. Supreme Court on Monday that a wholesale eviction would require a force of between 250 and 300 police officers, and that there is no such force of officers available at the present time.

Some 15,000 acres in the vicinity of Nelson, Grand Forks and Brilliant, which were taken over by the Sun Life Assurance Company from the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Limited, are involved in the case.

After acquiring title in a protracted foreclosure suit, the Sun Life on June 3 last issued a writ of possession, which was placed in the hands of Sheriff Harper with instructions to dispossess the Doukhobor occupants.

Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the provincial police expressed the opinion in an affidavit that the wholesale eviction of the Doukhobors would be likely to precipitate serious civil strife and involve the destruction of public and private property, and to give rise to bloodshed. At least 3,500 Doukhobors would be evicted, he stated.

HERRIDGE URGES BREAK WITH JAPAN

Says Canada Should Follow U.S. Lead In Cutting Trade Links

OTTAWA (CP)—"There is no basis for friendly association between the democracies of the English and French-speaking nations and the Fascism of Japan," said Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the New Democracy movement, in a statement he issued today.

"The United States, by its denunciation of the United States-Japanese commercial treaty, appears to acknowledge that fact, Canada should be equally candid, in duty to ourselves, the Empire and our good neighbor."

"For against Japan, the United States and Canada have a common frontier and must have a common policy."

"Therefore, Canada should take immediate steps to comprehensively terminate its economic relations with Japan and to secure the nation against the consequences of this just and self-respecting act."

ing food to the party was directed to the scene by signal fires. The prearranged signal was to set one fire to indicate that Walker was alive and two fires if beyond aid.

The plane, Akenhead said, circled the mountain ledge seven times and dropped food. The bread landed in the best shape, the canned goods exploding as they struck the rocky ravine.

"The things we needed most to give strength, missed the mark and were lost," he said. It was impossible to recover them. Sheer drops—everywhere—nothing under 1,000 feet, with impassable boulders as big as houses.

"It was a tough job, but I would do it again if I had to."

Chamberlain Given Confidence Vote 250 to 132

Upheld After Bitter Debate On Plan to Adjourn Till Oct. 3

November Election?

LONDON (CP)—After a bitter five-hour debate on the government's motion to adjourn Parliament from August 4 to October 3 the House of Commons tonight gave Prime Minister Chamberlain a vote of confidence, 250 to 132.

The vote was on an opposition amendment to have Parliament reconvene August 21 because of the tense situation in Europe, instead of taking a two months' recess.

Mr. Chamberlain, nettled by criticism from some members of his own party, called for a confidence vote.

The government's motion contains a provision that the speaker can recall members of the House at an earlier date if it should be desirable in the public interest.

Unless the international situation deteriorates sharply, Britain is almost sure to have a general election in November. It is expected the House will sit for three weeks in October before dissolution in preparation for the election.

Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the Labor opposition, introduced the amendment to the adjournment motion, asking that the House be recalled August 21.

NO SIGNS OF CRISIS

"We have no information at the present time," Mr. Chamberlain declared, "which leads us to suppose that it will be necessary to call the House together at any particular moment."

The Prime Minister added, however, that such action would be taken if the government found that new legislation were needed "to meet an unexpected situation."

"I think Parliament has dealt with all that is felt to be necessary at the present moment, and the House can be assured that the country now is ready for any emergency."

Declaring Parliament should not take such a long recess in a "crisis perhaps greater than any we have known," Mr. Greenwood contended that:

"It only needs one of the great personages in Europe suffering from a bad liver to learn that six German subjects had been shot in Danzig for the world to be at war in 24 hours."

CHURCHILL CRITICIZES

Winston Churchill joined the opposition attack on the adjournment motion, declaring that "the situation in Europe is graver than at this time last year."

The war-time cabinet member, frequent critic of the government, said Germany had a great number of men under arms and that "all along the Polish border there are masses of troops and every preparation is being made for a speedy advance."

Mr. Churchill compared the situation with the crisis before the Munich conference in September, 1938, at which time Parliament was in recess.

"Until then there had been no heavy troop movements in Germany and nothing suspicious had been done," he said. "It was only after the House adjourned that there were those pretended large manoeuvres."

After referring to the preparedness of the British fleet and army, Mr. Churchill asked: "Who can doubt that there is going to be a supreme trial of will power, if not a supreme trial of arms?"

"It seems to me that at this moment . . . it would be disastrous, pathetic, indeed shameful, for the House of Commons to write itself off as an effective and valid factor in the situation or to reduce any strength it can offer to the firm front with which the nation will face aggression."

The Labor and Liberal parties, in urging the government bring Parliament back before October 3, have said in recent days that they feared the European situation would get worse the middle of August or September. For one thing they feared the government would return to the policy of appeasement.

The Chamberlain government could go for another year before appealing to the people, but Prime Minister Chamberlain favors an election this year unless the international situation interferes.

EARLY START ON ALASKA ROAD URGED

Pattullo, Flying to California, Hopes For Work Next Year

SEATTLE (AP)—Expressing hope work on the proposed British Columbia-Alaska highway would start next year, Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia, accompanied by his 12-year-old daughter, Anne, left today on a brief vacation trip.

"I'm going to stay with it until it does," the premier said. "The international commissions will probably meet at Ottawa late this fall to clear up more ground-work."

At Los Angeles, the premier's granddaughter will visit Mrs. Pattullo and the premier will go to attend an anniversary dinner for Prime Minister Mackenzie King, set for August 8.

He said that on his return he would take a 6,000-mile air trip north to the mouth of the Mackenzie River, the Yukon Territory and Fairbanks.

ferries on certain lakes and rivers lying along one projected route of the Alaska Highway until such times as the traffic warrants road and bridge construction is suggested by the two engineering members of the United States section of the British Columbia-Alaska Highway Commission.

The two, James W. Carey, Seattle consulting engineer, and Donald Macdonald, Fairbanks, associate engineer of the Alaska road commission, who passed through here by plane yesterday, following Congressman W. B. Magnuson of Seattle and Dr. Ernest Bruening of Washington, D.C., who passed through Vancouver Monday night en route to their homes.

The engineers confirmed the optimistic opinion advanced by Representative Magnuson concerning the practicability of the highway.

They also commented favorably on the new proposed short route by Takla and Stuart Lakes over which they flew on Monday. "From an engineering standpoint, there are no unsurmountable obstacles through the entire route so far as I can see from the air," Mr. Carey declared.

"I see no reason why until the traffic grows ferries could not be used to advantage on Takla, Trembleur and Stuart Lakes, a combined distance of more than 100 miles.

Mr. Macdonald felt the highway could be built at a cost of about $15,000 per mile, or $15,000,000 total cost.

Island Fire Controlled

VANCOUVER (CP)—District Forester C. J. Haddon reported today a forest fire reported Tuesday in the Cowichan Lake operation of the Victorian Lumber and Manufacturing Company had been under control. No equipment was damaged.

The blaze was fought by 160 men and six pumps.

Atlantic Fliers Killed

CASA BLANCA, Morocco (AP)—An airplane in which Commander Pedro Canga of the Peruvian air force was attempting a trans-Atlantic flight fell in flames today, killing Canga and his mechanic, Alfredo Icaza, and injuring the wireless operator, Louis Villanueva. The crash occurred near Azemmour, a small Moroccan seaport.

The Peruvians had taken off Monday from Rome for a flight to Lima, Peru.

LABOR CAPTURES BRITISH SEAT

LONDON (CP)—Labor gained its 13th House of Commons seat since the 1935 general election by taking yesterday's by-election in the Welsh constituency of Brecon and Radnor. It was announced today. It was the 78th by-election during the life of the present Parliament.

W. F. Jackson, Labor, won the seat by defeating Channing Phillips, Conservative. The vote was 20,679 to 18,043.

"I won because the country is sick and tired of the National Government," said Mr. Jackson, adding the people wanted Prime Minister Chamberlain to show "more firmness in his handling of foreign affairs."

The vacancy was caused by the succession to the peerage of Ivor Guest, Nationalist supporter of the government; on the death of his father, Lord Wimborne. In 1935 Ivor Guest polled 22,079 votes to 19,910 for Dr. Haden Gues, Labor.

During the four years, the government has lost three seats to independents, while the other by-elections resulted in no change in political representation.

180 Craft For British Navy

Commons Asked to Approve Addition Of Mine Sweepers and Other Vessels

LONDON (AP)—Geoffrey Shakespeare, financial secretary to the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today that Great Britain would add 180 vessels, mostly smaller craft such as trawlers, to the 1939 naval construction program.

The additions, he said, would include 107 trawlers for mine-sweeping and anti-submarine work. Twenty of these would be specially built and the remainder purchased and converted.

The government also planned to construct 56 vessels of the whale packet type, some for service as patrol vessels and others for anti-submarine work.

Other new vessels would include 10 big minesweepers, six boom defence vessels and one cable ship.

A floating dock to accommodate small craft up to 5,000 tons already had been purchased, he announced, adding that further additions would be disclosed later and provisions for meeting the cost would be made in a supplementary budget estimate.

The disclosure followed an announcement of the purchase of six vessels to form the nucleus of a merchant reserve fleet and contract arrangements last week for acquisition of 86 trawlers from commercial fishing fleets.

The Admiralty has been experimenting with small motorboats capable of 60 miles an hour while loaded with two torpedoes and mines.

Mr. Shakespeare estimated the cost of the new vessels at about £1,000,000 ($31,480,000).

In reply to a question, he said the main naval building program would continue to be governed by the schedule announced at the beginning of the year.

"We cannot depart from that without breaking the naval treaty of limitation," he said.

A government white paper announced modification of the Anglo-Russian naval agreement of 1933 giving Russia the right to increase the size of battleships from 35,000 to 45,000 tons.

This was in accord with the new maximum agreed on by the three original signatories of the London naval treaty of 1936, Britain, France, and the United States.

The 1936 pact set the battleship limit at 35,000 tons, but last year the United States and Britain, taking notice of reports that Japan was building bigger ships, raised their limit to 45,000 tons with France's approval.

British-Russian Talks in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Another in the long series of conferences between Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and British and French envoys on the proposed three-power mutual aid pact was held today in the Kremlin.

The negotiations were said to be proceeding at "their customary tempo." Results were not disclosed.

The meeting followed a forecast by some foreign observers that Russia might refuse to join in a pact, except on unreserved acceptance of Moscow's formula covering "indirect aggression" in the Baltic area.

This was the meaning put in some quarters on a statement last night by Tass, official Soviet news agency, charging that the British formula left loopholes for potential aggressors.

The reaction in Finnish, Latvian and Estonian circles was renewed insistence on their rights to remain neutral. It was broadly hinted that those states—potential unwilling beneficiaries of guarantees—might seek elsewhere protection against a pledge by Russia.

The Baltic nations' interpretation of the Soviet stand was that it would leave a loophole for Russian interference in their internal affairs.

British Regret Russian Reaction

LONDON (CP)—British officials expressed regret today over Russian reaction to remarks of Foreign Under-secretary Richard Butler in the House of Commons Monday night. Both Tass, official Russian news agency, and the government-controlled Moscow radio sharply reproved Mr. Butler for what they called "misrepresentation of Soviet policy."

He was quoted as saying the Russian formula covering "indirect aggression" would encroach on the independence of the Baltic states.

Germans Celebrate War Anniversary

BERLIN (AP)—Under orders of Chancellor Hitler, the German army today celebrated for the first time an anniversary of the outbreak of the Great War.

Special observance of the 25th anniversary were conducted in all garrisons of greater Germany, and Hitler's order made the day an army holiday.

The controlled Nazi press took occasion to speak at length of the "heroic battle of 1914 to 1918" on the heels of a statement yesterday by Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels's newspaper Der Angriff that Germany's military position had improved vastly in 25 years.

(It was August 1, 1914, that Germany declared war on Russia and ordered mobilization. On August 2 German troops crossed into Luxembourg.)

Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter cited as a historic coincidence that on August 2, 1934, Paul von Hindenburg, republican Germany's last president, died and Hitler combined the offices of chancellor and president.

Big Russian Farm Expansion Claimed

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia today has virtually completed her reconstruction of agriculture on the basis of a new, up-to-date technique, according to Premier-Vice-Chancellor Vyacheslav Molotov.

Molotov, opening an all-union agricultural exhibition last night, said the show was a nationwide celebration, reflecting the victory of the collective farming system.

"The gross output of agriculture last year exceeded by 50 per cent that of 1913," the Premier said.

"The task set by our party of securing 7,000,000,000 to 8,000,000,000 poods (4,212,600,000 to 4,814,400,000 bushels) a year from the grain harvest is being successfully accomplished."

"This year, too, with good organization in the harvesting we have ample ground to expect 7,000,000,000 poods of grain."

Danzig Border Clash

DANZIG (AP)—The organ of the Danzig Nazi Party, Vorposten, reported today a violation of the border by three Polish customs officers who withdrew after a Danzig border patrol had fired a warning shot, near Sobibowiz.

The newspaper also reported that some 15 Polish soldiers at a bridge at Tczew stoned a train which was carrying German holiday makers home from Danzig. Several passengers were hit but none seriously hurt, Vorposten said.

Planes Score in Italian Manoeuvres

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A mock invasion of Italy's northwestern frontier from the direction of France today set large scale Italian military manoeuvres in motion.

The "attack" by "red" forces was repulsed after initial success, but "enemy" aviation penetrated anti-aircraft defences, causing considerable theoretical damage behind the lines.

While the army of the Po was moving into position to counter-attack tomorrow "enemy" planes "bombed and destroyed" two bridges over the Ticino River.

The engineer corps, working throughout the night, replaced them with pontoon bridges at Pavia and Bereguardo, enabling the defending army to continue its march toward the frontier.

Premier Mussolini, in a two-hour flight by bombing plane over the manoeuvre area, saw his motorized columns moving westward.

Nazi Line Holds In Sham Battles

MUENSTER, Germany (AP)—Defence lines proved unbreakable, an official report said today, in what were described as heavy "battles" in northwestern Germany's air manoeuvres.

Authorities said a theoretical war zone of 15,000 square miles was defended successfully against "invaders" from a "red" state.

The manoeuvres, which began yesterday and had been described as local, were given greater significance when the official Ger-

Will Use Planes to Reduce Drownings

MONTREAL (CP)—A plan involving use of airplanes and police radio cars, and designed to cut down drowning fatalities, is under study by a group of Montreal doctors, it was announced today.

Dr. C. C. Birchard, vice-president of the group known as the Committee of Resuscitation, told reporters the Quebec government would be asked to aid in the plan, which calls for the establishment of a "rescue squad" of physicians.

The squad, Dr. Birchard said, would use airplanes to rush to any point in the vicinity of Montreal where a person has been taken from the water and fails to revive at once. With police headquarters here notified of such cases, police cars would pick up squad members at hospitals and rush them to the airplane base.

Services to West Indies Questioned

Board of Trade
Asked About Links
With Canadian Ports

LONDON (CP)—Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, gave a noncommittal written answer today to a question by Sir Irving Albery on shipping services to Newfoundland and the British West Indies.

Sir Irving asked if, when considering applications by liner companies operating on Atlantic routes from inclusion in provisions of the Shipping Defence Bill, the Board of Trade would endeavor to obtain better, more frequent and cheaper communication with Newfoundland, Bermuda and the West Indies; would require more liners en route to and from Canadian ports to call at St. John's, Nfld., and would refuse assistance where agreements exist with foreign shipping companies limiting services available to the Dominions and colonies.

Mr. Stanley answered that these considerations would be kept in mind. Commenting today upon the impending withdrawal of a pair of Harrison liners from the Leeward and Windward Islands and British Guiana service, the Evening News (Independent) said:

"After October British citizens, officials and private persons, on their journeys between Britain and these most ancient and loyal of British dependencies will have to travel in foreign ships heavily subsidized by foreign governments."

"The West Indies have for long been a somewhat neglected and depressed corner of the Empire. Is this latest step calculated to warm their loyalty or make them believe Britain cares about their fate?"

Home Loans in Victoria $199,239

OTTAWA (CP)—Toronto with $726 loans for $3,143,344 led all cities of 40,000 population and over in home improvement loans up to June 30, according to a statement issued by Hon. Charles Dunning, Finance Minister. Total loans approved in 17 such cities were 30,266 with a value of $11,824,487.

Montreal was second with 3,493 loans for $1,880,049 and Vancouver third with 3,115 for $869,932, while Winnipeg was fourth with 2,701 loans for $1,049,003, followed by Hamilton with 2,123 for $582,180 and Edmonton 1,692 for $859,040. Loans and amounts in other cities included: Regina 346, $130,106; Saskatoon 202, $64,833; Calgary 1,065, $449,125; Victoria 588, $199,239.

City Campaign On Gorge Challenged

Saanich Invites Inspection of Alleged Sewerage Nuisance

"Put up or shut up" was the attitude of the Saanich Council last night to city claims that Saanich sewerage was polluting the Gorge waters.

The council unanimously endorsed a resolution which challenged Alderman John Worthington, chairman of the city's health committee, to investigate the source of the alleged complaints with Reeve A. G. Lambrick and the Saanich health officer.

Reeve Lambrick said since the city had started its move towards getting provincial authorities to force Saanich into installing a sewerage system in the inner wards he had, in company with the health officer and municipal engineer, gone over the ground from Harriet Road to Admirals Road. There was only one place where there had not been crystal clear water emptying from Saanich into the Gorge, he said.

"Any statement that Gorge waters are being polluted by Saanich should be proved or retracted," the reeve said. "When we made our inspection I asked Alderman Worthington to come with us and he refused. The city health committee should prove or retract its statement."

Saanich did not need the city to tell it how its garbage should be disposed of and when it was ready Saanich would settle garbage disposal in its own way and the reeve was sure there would be no dumping of garbage just off the shoreline so that it came back on the shore.

Alderman E. C. Warren, Ward Two, moved the resolution challenging Ald. Worthington's statement and asking him to go over the source of complaint. "In other words put up or shut up," he said. "This complaint was raised every year and he charged the city aldermen were using it to play politics."

Reeve Lambrick said he would like to point out the case of typhoid found near the Gorge was nowhere near Saanich.

May Urge Second Term for Tweedsmuir

Prime Minister
Would Like Governor-
General to Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—Indication that efforts will be made to retain Lord Tweedsmuir for a second term as Governor-General of Canada was given last night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. The Prime Minister was asked if any consideration had been given to the selection of a successor to Lord Tweedsmuir, whose five-year term will expire next year.

"I have been very happy to have Lord Tweedsmuir here and would like to see him stay for another term," the Prime Minister said. "I would consider seeking an extension to his term before I would think about his successor."

The Liverpool Post published a dispatch from a London correspondent yesterday saying the 44-year-old Duke of Devonshire, son of a former Canadian Governor-General, was being spoken of as a possible successor to Lord Tweedsmuir as Governor-General of Canada.

HEAT TAKES TOLL IN GRAIN FIELDS

OTTAWA (CP)—Another week of continuous and rapid depreciation of prairie grain crops took place under conditions of high temperatures and little or no relief by rain, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says in a telegraphic crop report covering crop conditions throughout Canada up to Monday.

The harvest in Manitoba proceeded rapidly and the bulk of cutting will be completed this week. The extent of the damage from heat and drought is difficult to assess until threshing, but reports of light yields and shrunken samples are numerous.

Further severe reductions in the fine prospects in Saskatchewan and Alberta are reported. Crops in central and northeastern Saskatchewan and in central and northern Alberta withstood the adverse conditions best, but the deterioration was quite general. Weather conditions have advanced the probable harvesting dates in these provinces. Root and fodder crops and pastures on the prairies have suffered severely.

CALGARY (CP)—Believed to be the first to be delivered to any elevator in Alberta this season, the Alberta Wheat Pool yesterday received a load of wheat from Henry Neufeld, Purple Springs.

Would Build Auto Track in Saanich

Another proposal for the construction of a racetrack on the McRae Farm on Cedar Hill road was presented to the Saanich council last night.

This proposition, however, was for the erection of an auto racing track instead of a horse racing strip, and was laid before the council by A. G. Frumento, represented by P. J. Sinnott.

In order to secure public opinion on the issue the council set for next Tuesday at 8 a public hearing at which those for and against the track construction will be heard.

Will Examine Tender Form

Saanich Council
Tables Action On Transportation Issue

Until such time as the members of the Saanich Council have been given the opportunity to peruse all details of the transportation tender form the council has tabled further action on the calling for a Greater Victoria transportation franchise.

The council adopted this stand last night after receiving a request from the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee for approval of the tender form.

Saanich's position in the calling of tenders for a unified system in Victoria and the adjoining municipalities was thoroughly discussed with Harold Husband, general manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, which firm now holds a franchise contract in the municipality.

In reply to direct questioning from members of the council, Mr. Husband said his firm would not be prepared to give up its Saanich contract to throw open the franchise.

Mr. Husband stated he was prepared to submit a bid which would include Saanich. He did not believe bids could be satisfactorily tendered without the inclusion of Saanich.

During the discussion which followed the interview with Mr. Husband, Reeve Lambrick said the Greater Victoria committee was anxious to proceed with the tenders, and he urged approval of the form. The committee also requested Saanich share equally in the cost of advertising for tenders.

The reeve said Saanich had waited too long in taking active participation on the transportation issue, and other members of the committee had accused him of stemming progress.

"I will resign from the committee unless the council takes immediate action," the reeve said.

As the council failed to support the stand that Saanich should pay an equal share of the advertising, since transportation in Saanich was tied up for the next 11 years, the reeve tendered his resignation as a committee member.

At the insistence of the council, however, he agreed to sit on the committee at its meeting today as an observer.

North Vancouver Youth Drowned

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Wilson, 19, of North Vancouver, was drowned here last night while swimming with four girl companions at Ambleside Beach.

Police said the youth apparently suffered a heart attack or a cramp just as he reached the float with his companions.

Wilson assisted one of the girls to climb on the raft and then he disappeared. The girls dived for 15 minutes looking for him before they summoned help.

Jack McDonald, 16-year-old West Vancouver boy, found the body under the float.

New Auto Business Up 45 Per Cent

DETROIT—Sales upswing in the first half of this year sent new passenger car registrations to 45 per cent over totals for the first half of 1938, R. L. Polk and Co., statisticians report.

From January 1 to July 1, this year, 1,409,102 new units were registered, against 974,023 in the first half of 1938. New trucks registered were 248,826, against 196,067, an increase of 27 per cent.

Tweedsmuir Party Travels

QUEBEC (CP)—Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir, accompanied by Miss Anna Buchan and Hon. Alastair Buchan, left Quebec today for Churchill, Man.

With their party, the Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir will visit the Pas, Jasper and the Peace River district before returning to Ottawa August 22.

Dunning Leaves For Long Rest

Premier King Declines
To Accept Finance
Minister's Resignation

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Dominion Minister of Finance, will take a long rest to recover from a heart condition which has bothered him during the last two sessions of Parliament. Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of National Revenue, it was announced last night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will assume the additional duties of acting Finance Minister in Mr. Dunning's absence.

Following yesterday's cabinet meeting, the Prime Minister said Mr. Dunning had offered his resignation, but that it was not accepted.

"I told Mr. Dunning I was sure the people of Canada would want him to remain in the government, so that when he is restored to health he may return to continue to serve the country as he has served so well in the past," said Mr. King.

The finance minister's physicians have advised him that he may expect a complete recovery if he separates himself entirely from all official duties for a long period of rest. He will go to England shortly, visiting, among other places, the section of Leicestershire where he was born on July 31, 1885.

"Mr. Dunning was very much concerned about the necessity of his being away from his duties for such a long period," the Prime Minister said. "I pointed out to him that ministers on different occasions in the past had been forced to take long vacations because of ill health, and that the people had been glad to approve because of the valuable services such ministers had rendered."

"There were several matters I would like to have had him take up abroad, but he felt he must be completely removed from all sense of responsibility and I agreed with him. His physicians have said he must be relieved of all duties direct or indirect in order that his recovery may be complete."

The Prime Minister said he had no idea how long Mr. Dunning would be away. That would depend entirely on the progress of his recovery.

The Prime Minister said he had suggested that Mr. Dunning go to South America, where there were "one or two things" he wanted the finance minister to look into. But that would have been against the doctors' orders for complete severance from official responsibilities.

Since prostration, Mr. Dunning has been under close observance by specialists.

BARON HOWARD DIES IN ENGLAND

Many Years in Diplomatic Service;
Ambassador to U.S.

HINDHEAD, Surrey, Eng. (CP)—Baron Howard of Penrith, 75, member of the British delegation to the peace conference in 1919 and British ambassador to the United States from 1924 to 1930, died here yesterday.

The first Baron Howard, who as Sir Esme Howard, visited Canada a number of times during his ambassadorship at Washington, suffered a relapse yesterday following an operation performed several weeks ago, from which he failed to rally.

He was raised to the peerage after his return from the United States in 1930 and retired from the diplomatic service, in which he had served for almost half a century.

He had been British minister to Switzerland from 1911-13, and after that viewed the war from neutral Sweden, where he was minister until 1919, when he went to the peace conference.

Lord Howard was ambassador to Spain from 1919 to 1924, when he was appointed to Washington.

Lord Howard also served in secretarial posts in the British legations at Rome and Berlin and from 1906 to 1908 was councillor of the British embassy in Washington.

As a trooper in the Imperial Yeomanry he was decorated for distinguished service in South Africa in 1900.

Ontario to Train Aircraft Mechanics

GALT, Ont. (CP)—Hon. Norman Hipel yesterday announced 600 young Ontario men will be trained under the Dominion-provincial youth program as aircraft mechanics by the Ontario Department of Labor at the request of the Department of National Defense.

The group will be divided into three classes of 200 each and each class will be taught for seven months.

Difficulties for Canada as Haven

OTTAWA (CP)—Statement in the British House of Commons yesterday by Sir Thomas Inskip, Dominions Secretary, that "insuperable difficulties" stood in the way of settling British mothers, children and infirm people in Canada in the event of war coincided with his own views, Prime Minister King said last night.

A suggestion was made some time ago that Canada might offer a haven for refugees from the British Isles in the event of war. The statement of the Dominions Secretary was an indication of the numerous important factors which must be considered in dealing with methods of meeting a situation which he hoped would never arise, said the Prime Minister.

Gasoline Under Control

AFTER NEARLY FIVE YEARS OF investigation and of testing of powers in the courts, the British Columbia Government through its Coal and Petroleum Control Board has ordered a three-cent reduction in the price of gasoline. The cut is to be borne by the big oil companies, the spread to retailers being stabilized at 5 cents a gallon in the heavy consuming areas in and near the coast cities and 6 cents elsewhere.

If the government succeeds in its order, it will have established gasoline as a public utility. Such a development, we feel, has been inevitable. To business as well as the individual gasoline has become an indispensable source of power. So much so that it is as logical a step for the state to assume control over its distribution and price as it has been for the state to regulate railroad, electric power and water rates and services.

Ultimately, we think, control will prove to be in the interests of the industry itself. Competition for gallonage, at rates that were evidently highly profitable in this British Columbia area, has led to uneconomic expansion on the part of the refining and distributing units. There has been unnecessary duplication of retail outlets. Two, three or more stations have been opened at points where there may have been profitable business for one. All this may have been good for retailers, but not for the public, which is always expected to foot the bills; and not good, we fear, for the oil companies themselves. In an analysis a few weeks ago of the oil and gasoline industry in Canada the Financial Post pointed out that the companies in their competitive race were indulging in economic waste. They had brought themselves to the stage of diminishing returns, reflected in the steady decline in their earnings, and continued depreciation in the market prices of their securities.

It has all come to the point where the oil companies need protection in their own interest as well as that of the consumer. This the British Columbia government has now moved to bring about. Through the supervision of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board, established outlets are to be protected against new competition up to the point where the public is not inconvenienced in the service it seeks. The gasoline companies are to be saved from the folly of their own excesses and some of the benefits passed on to the public.

Too Valuable to Lose

CANADIANS IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE, irrespective of political affiliations, will have learned with regret that continued ill health has obliged Hon. Charles Dunning, Dominion Minister of Finance, to obey instructions and take a long rest in order to regain his strength and vigor. A substantial measure of satisfaction, however, will be derived from the fact that Mr. Mackenzie King positively refused to accept the resignation which his colleague felt it his duty to place in the hands of the government leader. From every quarter the hope will go out that after an extended period away from the turmoil of public life, the heavy responsibilities of his exacting office, he will return to his desk thoroughly refreshed and invigorated.

Few people in this country are unaware of the romantic story of the life to date of Hon. Charles Dunning; how he rapidly climbed the ladder of success; how he left his native Leicestershire to try his fortunes in this New World; how he became Prime Minister of Saskatchewan before his 37th birthday; how he withdrew from the provincial political realm 13 years ago to accept office in the government of Mr. Mackenzie King, first as Minister of Railways and Canals and afterward as Minister of Finance—a portfolio in the discharge of the duties of which he has established a reputation that entitles him to be classified as one of the ablest custodians of the public treasury this Dominion has ever had.

To be Minister of Finance, federal or provincial, at any time is far from a sinecure. Mr. Dunning inherited that position three months after the bottom had fallen out of the economic world in 1929. His first budget in the following year—the year the Canadian people decided they wanted to change their government at Ottawa—was a model of businesslike presentation and set a mark from which he has not deviated since he took up the threads of that department after his return to public life with the advent of the present administration. No finer tribute could be paid to the record of Mr. Dunning, incidentally, than that paid by an influential Conservative daily in its reference to his illness a year ago. It said in part:

"The anxiety that has been expressed without regard to political affiliations is a tribute to Mr. Dunning; the man and the minister. Canadian opinion holds that he is the right man to have, and if at all possible, to keep in the 'key' position he now holds. These are the days when a strong and able man is needed in the position, when all sorts of strange theories are being advanced, and when extravagant demands are being made upon the Treasury. Mr. Dunning's record is insurance against instability and radical experiment."

Another Term?

WHEN A GOVERNOR-GENERAL enters his fifth and final year in that highly-responsible position it is customary to canvass the list of possible successors who would be acceptable to the Canadian people. Interesting speculation already has begun. Owners of names prominent in various spheres of British public life have been mentioned. But from Ottawa yesterday came an intriguing announcement that Mr. Mackenzie King "would consider an extension" of Lord Tweedsmuir's term before he would "think about a successor."

We do not profess to know what the majority of Canadians think about the suggestion which the head of the government has thrown out. It can be said without hesitation, however, that the present occupant of Rideau Hall has rendered a fine service to the British family as a whole as His Majesty's representative in Canada. His numerous noteworthy public appearances have found him equal to the demands of every occasion. While the exacting duties of an official position of this kind necessarily are surrounded by strict inhibitions, a realist of Lord Tweedsmuir's experience and knowledge of the world and its ways might have been pardoned if at times he had found it difficult to clothe his observations with appropriate circumspection. But the correct word, even in times of crisis and tension, has not eluded him.

On other occasions, of course, the Governor-General has been able to unburden himself without restraint, to give vent to his innermost feelings and subject the moving panorama of these times to that intensive scrutiny for which John Buchan—the litterateur and classicist—is adequately qualified. In his comings and goings about the land, therefore, Lord Tweedsmuir has coupled his enjoyment of rare experience with a profound understanding of his responsibility. The Prime Minister's consideration of an extension of the term, therefore, is not difficult to understand.

If the People Knew

AS THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT prepares to take its summer recess, Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, has addressed a letter to his Warwick and Leamington constituents in which he sets down a truism which cannot be gainsaid. It is this:

"If we can convince others of what we know to be the true temper of the British people there will be no war."

The ex-member of the Chamberlain government places a good deal of reliance on the efficacy of the "unshakeable firmness" and determination of the British people. While he realizes that Britain is in for a further period of the "war of nerves" and a "prolonged testing," he is also convinced that if Germany and Italy once understand that Britain really means to combat further aggression with all her might and resources, peace will get a chance to survive.

It is a commonplace to say these are dangerous times, that the uncertainty of totalitarian mentality requires constant vigilance, but the fact remains that der Fuehrer and Il Duce are less noisy than they were a few months ago. This may mean little or much.

At last we shall have a real test of Hitler's power over his people. He has set a speed limit on highways.

The American national anthem seems to need modernizing. It begins with "O Say," instead of "Listen."

Reports are to the effect that most of the dangerous drivers are women. Well, if somebody must be scared, chivalry demands that the man be it.

Why should human egotism conjure up Martians in man's own image? According to the latest scientific studies, life on Mars is most probably vegetable, much lower than a cabbage.

Western Canada is looking for someone to keep up wheat prices when the prairies are yielding a bumper crop. Which reminds the Toronto Star that someone named Joseph made the attempt thousands of years ago, but his methods would not meet with approval in our times.

Thanks to Switzerland

From Christian Science Monitor
Persons who have tramped enthralled through those brilliant galleries knew that what mattered artistically in Madrid, during all the recent months of horror, was the safety of the paintings in the Prado. Such persons were not necessarily unmindful of the loss of human life or of the terrible devastation of property. But those paintings they knew and treasured; hence there was felt an almost personal responsibility as to their fate.

And now it is learned that they are safe—the superb Goyas, the El Grecos, the Velasquez and all the rest. Thanks to Switzerland—shelter for political refugees, haven of lost causes, chosen hiding-place for valued possessions—they are safe and will soon be seen again in that proud building in Madrid's tree-shaded park.

Last March, it is revealed, Madrid's invaluable art treasures, 4,000 in number, were removed from the threat of danger and put into the charge of the secretary-general to the League of Nations at Geneva. Recently it has been deemed safe for these treasures of art to be returned to Madrid. And once more Switzerland has merited the gratitude of the nations.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE RACKET

THOUSANDS OF READERS, I might even say tens of thousands, have written in to ask me what has happened to the Golden Calf, that remarkable mine which, without ever earning any dividends, has yet contributed largely to my livelihood. I will tell you what has happened to the Golden Calf. It has closed.

Not on account of any lack of ore. If we had been concerned with the lack of ore, the Golden Calf would have closed years ago, because it never had any ore at all. It was one of those specially rich mines which didn't need ore, for it worked the rich vein of public investment, which is the cheapest, most scientific and economic operation known to mineralogy.

No, we closed the Golden Calf for more than selfish, worldly reasons. We closed it for moral reasons. We closed it because we could not bear to take any part in the present racket of gold in the world. After going into the question thoroughly, we found to our horror that the little gold we produced at the Golden Calf was not used to make gold plates for the King's table, or even to fill teeth or provide covers for wrist watches. It was shipped to the United States and there the unhappy American taxpayer purchased it for $35 an ounce, at his own expense and put the gold in the ground, where it was useless to him or anyone.

We could not bear to be a party to such a swindle, though I am bound to say our contribution to the swindle was very small; far too small to be of any use to us.

No honest man, of course, could be a party to such a swindle of a friendly nation. An honest man would refuse to cheat the American taxpayer by the production of a useless article when he could be producing something useful, like cabbages, at much less cost and trouble. So we closed the Golden Calf, for moral reasons, and as soon as the real truth of the racket is known, I have no doubt every gold mine in this country will close down also; particularly if it has no more ore than the Golden Calf.

STRANGE PROCESS

ACCORDING TO THE PUBLIC PRINTS, Dr. Manion says that if the two right-wing political parties of Canada combine, having nothing really to separate them, then the C.C.F. will form the official opposition, and then, inevitably, according to our system the C.C.F. will eventually form a government, a horrid thought which would terrify Dr. Manion and the Liberal Party equally, even though the people should come to want the C.C.F., which is highly doubtful, in its present form.

Dr. Manion doesn't think the thing through far enough. If the two old parties combined against the left-wing, radical party, as they would undoubtedly do if they got into any danger—that would not mean the ultimate election of the present C.C.F. The process is much more complicated than that. If the old parties go to the Right, and become too reactionary, then something else occurs. Many of those people who support them now will get disgusted and swing over to the Left, to the C.C.F., or whatever party represents the Left. Then the Left, in turn, is modified by this influx of more moderate people. It becomes less radical, less leftist. It becomes a party of reasonable reform, such as the people may be prepared to accept; or else it perishes.

So what you get from a combination of the old parties is a die-hard Tory party of reaction on one side and a party of reasonable reform on the other. Then the left-wing party may be elected and will do what the people want. The left-wing party will not be elected on its present program in the present state of the public mind. But parties can change, and so can the public mind.

GOOD OLD DAYS

BOOTH TARKINGTON, the able American writer, has just celebrated his 70th birthday by declaring that people are not so happy nowadays as they were when he was young. People at 70 have been saying that ever since time began, even when the current times were the happiest on record.

This looks like a pretty bad time to us now, but when we are 70 we shall look back and we shall say, "Why, I remember in the good old days of '39 life was so much simpler and we used to think a trip up to the Rockies or down to California was quite an event, and you could only drive 60 miles an hour on the Malahat and there were no bars nearer than Esquimalt, and we used to eat our food cooked, and folks would lie out in the sun getting tanned, without realizing that it caused early death; and politics!"

"Why," we'll say, "in those times we used to have political parties, and they certainly were a lot of fun, though they look a bit childish now. It's all right to laugh at our old parties, but they certainly gave nice picnics in the summer and dances in the winter, and by joining one of them you could stop thinking about public affairs at all; and in those times, mind you, people were allowed to think as they pleased. That was before we had the Fuehrer, you know; and the secret police and the secret trials. You'll hardly believe this, but we used to call cabinet ministers by their first names then, and they sometimes even rode in street cars or walked in the streets, and people would say what they thought about the government. Oh, I tell you, life was simple back in 1939. No crises all the time; no revolutions; no five-year plans. We didn't know much then, but we certainly lived in those days, as care-free and innocent as children!"

Comparison is what hurts. An old second-hand car would satisfy any of us if nobody else had a better one.

Hatley Park, Victoria's Opportunity

By HAROLD DIGGON

MOST PEOPLE WHO have seen it will agree that the magnificent Hatley Park estate with its stately mansion must have cost a princely sum. But comparatively few may realize that since the property on which it stands, was acquired by the late Hon. James Dunsmuir, an amount in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 has been expended on the estate, this sum representing the cost of laying out the grounds, the mansion itself, with the cottages, laundry, stables, garage and so forth, as well as later development work.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunsmuir have now passed to their rest, and their beautiful residence with its 640 acres of marvellously laid out grounds, is on the market.

Hatley Park, it may be said in passing, is acknowledged to be the finest of its kind on the continent.

How many of our citizens, I wonder, have enjoyed wandering through its acres of beautiful lawns bordered by gorgeous flower beds, or exploring its delightful woodland with its cascading streams and sylvan pathways? Those who have will readily admit that the experience was a revelation of the first magnitude.

In the design and general layout of the mansion and grounds the plan of the big English country estate has been closely followed. There are the lodges with their massive, wrought iron gates, the masonry enclosing wall with its iron gates, the masonry enclosing wall with its iron railings, and the long tree-lined avenues leading to the mansion itself.

No less than five acres are devoted to orchard, kitchen garden, and greenhouses, the whole, in true English style, enclosed by a cement wall. There are a number of estate employees' cottages, a laundry, carpenter's shop and commodious stables, all of masonry and with slate roofs. There is a large modern garage of eight-car capacity with machine shop attached; also a big garden storage room with a garage and living room. These also are built of stone. Modern farm buildings and equipment are also included.

A noteworthy feature is the immense conservatory of glass and steel construction. This conservatory which, I am told, is the design of one of England's foremost experts, contains the most extensive display of orchids and other exotic cultures in the province.

Piped water, miles of macadamized road, and electric lighting are among its many amenities.

OF THE GARDENS and grounds themselves, it would be impossible to exaggerate.

There is the formal Italian garden surrounded by a beautiful pergola. There are the Japanese gardens, reputed to be the finest in the Dominion, with a quaint tea house with genuine English thatched roof, artistically situated on a small island in the middle of one of the beautiful lakes within the confines of the estate.

One of the most striking natural features of the property, and one that made possible the unsurpassed scheme of landscape layout, is the clear, crystal stream which meanders through the estate.

At times flowing placidly, at others cascading over miniature falls, with here and there water wheels, this stream, whose source lies in the hills far beyond, winds its way through a fairyland of enchanting beauty.

Then there are lakes stocked with trout which readily rise to the fly.

In laying out the estate not a single tree was cut down if it could possibly be spared. Only undergrowth was removed in places. Every tree indigenous to British Columbia, and many other trees, imported at great expense by the late Mrs. Dunsmuir grow on the estate.

To see Hatley Park and to explore its beauties is an experience it would be impossible to express in mere words.

NOW, IT MAY WELL be asked, what, to use a colloquialism, am I getting at?

Well, here it is. Hatley Park is up for sale. Its cost to date, as I have said, has been about $4,000,000.

I am also informed that the price asked is little more than what it cost to erect the walls enclosing the estate.

Let us indulge in a little speculation as to what may happen. The attractive figure at which it is offered might appeal to some land speculator, who might purchase it with a view to future resale, a proposition which might take years to mature. In the meantime the grounds and gardens would be neglected and fall into decay, in fact revert to a jungle condition, which is unthinkable.

Now, why not the provincial government arrange for the purchase of the estate for the public? Properly advertised and maintained, it would form one of the finest tourist attractions it would be possible to conceive. A small charge for admission would go well towards defraying the cost of upkeep. This is a policy pursued in other places. Why not here?

As to the mansion itself, it could be leased as a country club hotel, or it could be used as a college for agriculture or other research purposes. With a limited portion of the grounds immediately attached to the mansion reserved, it might be considered as a suitable governor's residence.

In any case the opportunity should not be lost; tomorrow may be too late. No city or province in Canada was ever, or ever will be presented with such a glorious opportunity.

Hatley Park is to British Columbia what Hampton Court is to England.

BEYOND

The famed Lawrence of Arabia related that a celebrated western scholar once sought to impress an Arab sheik by recounting to him the wonders revealed by the telescope.

A look of sadness touched the face of the Arab; and looking out into the desert night, he said, "You foreigners see millions of stars, and nothing beyond. We Arabs see only a few stars—and God."

'Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight'

SOMEHOW IT COMES—as a shock to learn that an old lady who died in San Diego has just been named the author of "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight."

A whole generation has come to regard that phrase as a sort of joke to be flipped off all by itself, without realizing that it was the title and punch line of one of the most famous poems ever written.

"Wild her eyes and pale her features" as Bessie realized that "at the ringing of the curfew, Basil Underwood must die." A whole generation thrilled at the rhythmic description of how Bessie climbed the rickety ladder to the belfry, and then, as the hour approached, "Shall she let it ring? No, never! flash her eyes with sudden light, as she springs and grasps it firmly—Curfew shall not ring tonight!"

THEY REMEMBER the picture of Bessie, hanging firmly to the clapper of the bell as it swung "there 'twixt heaven and earth suspended." And they sighed with relief when assured that curfew not having rung, Cromwell arrived and pardoned Bessie's Basil Underwood.

"In his brave, strong arms he clasped her, kissed the face upturned and white. Whispered, 'Darling, you have saved me—curfew will not ring tonight!'"

Of course it is all incredibly hammy today, so definitely of a past era that it seems incredible that Rose Hartwick Thorpe, who wrote it as a schoolgirl, should have lived until July, 1939, a venerable lady of 89.

MAN, A SOCIAL BEING

From Toronto Star

One reason that reformatories do not reform is because their inmates are cut off from the natural relationships of the outer world. If the prisoner can tame a mouse, or coax a pigeon to light sometimes on his window sill, even the affection of these little comrades will brighten his life beyond belief.

MUSICAL NOTE

On one occasion Sir Alexander Mackenzie was conducting an orchestral accompaniment for a soloist whose ideas of time and rhythm were but rudimentary. "For goodness' sake," he exclaimed, "remember that this is an orchestra and not an elastic band!"

Jitterbug Dancing Believed Near End

NEW YORK (AP)—An early demise for "jitterbug" dancing was predicted today by leaders at the 56th annual convention of the dancing masters of America.

Leroy Thayer of Washington, president, said most of the 500 delegates believed both old and young folk were getting tired of the "jumping dances" and "acrobatic steps."

"The consensus is that the old ballroom dances are coming back, but with a faster tempo," he said. "I believe the revival of feminine fashions of the gay nineties is influencing the movement."

Weddings

HOLMES-SLOAN

St. Paul's Church, Victoria West, was prettily arranged by girl friends of the bride with mauve and white gladioli, with white heather tied with tulle on the guest pews, for the marriage last night at 8 of Jane Galt, younger daughter of Mrs. James Sloan and the late Mr. Sloan, 2525 Rose Street, and Mr. Harry D. H. Holmes, only son of Mr. Frank Holmes and the late Mrs. Holmes.

Rev. James Hyde read the service, and the bride's cousin, Mr. William Sloan, was at the organ and accompanied Mr. Fred Arnot, who sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. William Sloan, and looked very pretty in her redingote frock of white lace over satin, with long pointed sleeves and a stiff collar. The floor-length skirt had a short train. Her veil of bridal net was shirred stiffly on to the back of a pointed satin cap, and she carried an arm bouquet of roses and carnations. Miss Isabella Sloan, the bride's sister, in Nile green net over tulle, and her cousin, Miss Anne Macmillan, in shell pink, were the attractive bridesmaids. Their frocks had long skirts edged with a frill of net, and were worn with frilled boleros, long matching mittens and veiled doll hats surmounted with clusters of rosebuds. They carried bouquets of carnations and sweet peas.

Four-year-old Margaret Little was flower girl in a long frock of blue tulle girdled with rosebuds tied in long streamers at the back. She wore a tiny doll hat and carried a Victorian posy of blending flowers. Mr. Victor Young was best man, and the bridegroom's cousin, Mr. Richard Little, and Mr. Myrom Ashton were ushers.

A reception for relatives and a few intimate friends was held in the church hall, where Mrs. Sloan welcomed the guests in a blue lace dress and matching hat, with white accessories, assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. G. Elkins, in a flowered frock and white accessories. They both wore corsage bouquets of carnations. The bride and groom stood in front of a flower-banked fireplace. Supper was served at a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with the bride's cake standing among vases of pink and white flowers.

After a honeymoon motoring in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will take up residence at 258 Toronto Street. The bride went away in a teal blue suit with fuchsia accessories.

Elevator Being Installed At Aged Women's Home

The Aged Women's Home committee met at the home yesterday, Mrs. F. W. Vincent, first vice-president, presiding in the absence through illness of Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president.

The ordinary routine business was attended to and all accounts incurred for the month ordered paid.

The committee were pleased to see that work on the installation of the elevator was proceeding very satisfactorily. The committee for the month will be Mrs. David Scott, convener; Miss E. O'Brien and Mrs. W. Grant.

Members present included Mesdames W. Grant, E. Heddie, D. S. Sabiston, E. Bean, G. A. Lister, D. Scott, A. D. Whittier and Miss E. O'Brien.

Bride Off to Unknown Home in Sub-Arctic

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—In the little Anglican mission church here Miss Jean Warren Stephen of Edinburgh, Scotland, was married yesterday to Peter Dalrymple, post manager at Baker Lake in the sub-Arctic 500 miles north of Churchill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stephen of Edinburgh; the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dalrymple, Midlothian, Scotland.

They will leave for their Baker Lake home August 7, where they plan to remain two years before coming out for a holiday.

Mrs. Dalrymple journeyed from Scotland alone for the wedding and never before has she been in the north country.

"I don't know what kind of country I am going into," she said. "That's what makes it so interesting."

DANCE AT YACHT CLUB

The Royal Victoria Yacht Club will hold one of its popular flannel dances on Friday evening at the club house. A good orchestra will furnish the music from 9 till 1 and refreshments will be served. With perfect weather and a full moon promised, a large crowd is expected. Tickets for the affair may be obtained from the entertainment committee or the secretary.

Stiff Corsets to Come Back in Style

To Achieve Bustle And Nipped-in Waist, Say Stylists

CHICAGO (AP)—The business of putting women back into corsets, the kind with laces and stays, came to light at the merchandise mart style clinic today.

There was an emphasis on bustle effects and smaller waists, posing the immediate question of how to get that smaller waistline.

"By corsets, and in some instances, of course, corsets that lace," said Mrs. Katherine Ratto, stylist in charge of the clinic, a feature of the fall-winter wholesale apparel market.

"Hip interest," she said, is achieved by the bustle effects—bows in back, loops of material, peplum jackets or nipped-in waists.

Plaids, dear to grandma's heart, were strong favorites. There were plaid dresses, plaid skirts with plain jackets or vice versa, and plaid trim.

Beading, the kind through which grandma used to draw a ribbon hitched to a safety pin, appeared as trimming in the new lingerie designs. There also was a flannel and silk, long-sleeved nightgown with matching nightcap to tie under the chin.

PARIS (AP)—The corset clamped down on Paris fashions today and tightened up the silhouette from bust to hips to create a "stem torso."

Winter frocks shown in the new collections had bodies adjusted to rigid, old-fashioned stays revived in the new 1939 manner.

Shades of late Victorians were evoked in the bustle-back fashion for day and evening. Day coats were "bustled" with fur bows and bandings. Wool frocks had short "tails" of pleatings hung from back waistbands.

Evening dresses featured big cuffs on skirt backs, some brightened up with bright-colored flowers.

New corseting for the "stem torso" was introduced by Mainbocher, whose silhouette featured also the tight waist and rounded hips.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Does the bride customarily throw her bouquet when she leaves the reception to dress in her going-away clothes?

2. What is the significance of throwing the bouquet?

3. Must the suit that the bridegroom changes into after the ceremony be new?

4. Is it necessary to call in a caterer to see to the food for a wedding breakfast or the refreshments for a reception?

5. When the bride goes upstairs to change her clothes, may her mother leave the guests to go up and help?

What would you do if—
You are a prospective bride, trying to decide on your going-away clothes. Would you—
(a) Choose them for becomingness and appropriateness to the trip you are to take?
(b) Buy the most conspicuous things you can find?

ANSWERS

1. Yes. Particularly if she has bridesmaids.

2. The girl who catches it is supposed to be the next girl married.

3. No.

4. No. The bride's family can prepare the food.

Too Many Sleighs In Canadian Pictures

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian painting suffers from too many horses and sleighs, says John R. Spendlove, Montreal artist, back in Montreal after spending two years in Belgium.

Spendlove said that one of the major defects in Canadian winter scenes was that every picture had a horse and sleigh—a red sleigh and a brown horse.

"It might be a good idea," he suggested, "to change the color of the sleigh, and possibly of the horse as well, or to substitute a team of huskies."

He felt the future national school of Canadian painting should combine force and quality.

CANADIAN ART AT WORLD'S FAIR

New Exhibition Goes On View in Pavilion At New York

By TED FARAH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—A new exhibition of contemporary Canadian art went on view at the World's Fair here today, revealing the more liberal painters of the Dominion as a generally cheerful group with a lively interest in nature and people, and not much concern about committing social comment on canvas.

The third exhibition in the gallery of the Canadian pavilion in Grover Whalen's wonderland is representative of the younger artists from coast to coast who enrolled under the banner of the original "Group of Seven," and became known as "The Canadian Group of Painters."

The 65 pictures by 53 painters, an honest cross-section of current art in Canada, stand in contrast to the large exhibition of U.S. contemporary art nearby, which has many pictures expressing protest against social conditions and commenting satirically on existing institutions.

Furthermore, for the "World of Tomorrow," where nudity is a raging topic of controversy—especially in the amusement sector—the Canadian show offers not one undraped figure.

Landscapes and rural scenes, boldly colored with strong dramatic and rhythmic qualities, dominate the Canadian show. Only one surrealist picture is offered. It is called "Children in Pilosim," by Pegi Nichol, a native of Liswell, Ont. The picture defies description in a short space.

Few of the pictures tend toward abstraction. One that does markedly is entitled "Hockey," Fritz Brandtner, a native of Danzig who came to Canada in 1928 is the artist, and he shows two rather martial hockey players in action, producing an effect that is posterish but interesting.

Representative of the west are James W. G. MacDonald with his sombre study of "The Black Tusk" at Garibaldi Park, B.C., and Phillip Surrey, a native of Calgary, with his "Sunday Afternoon."

The current exhibition will remain in the gallery at the fair until September 15. It is the third to go on view at the Canadian pavilion. First was that of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts and it was followed by a joint exhibition of the Canadian Society of Painters in water color and the Sculptors' Society of Canada.

IN TOWN TODAY

"I'm quite sure there will be no war in Europe this year; the dictators don't want it any more than the people, and the stronger the democracies become, the less the chance of war," said Robert W. Morrison, banker of London, who is holidaying in Victoria with his wife.

"The people of England feel much easier in their minds now," he said. "This time last year we were all most worried. But I can assure you we have been through a great deal this last year."

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are on their first trip to Canada, with which they are delighted. They are so pleased with Victoria they are remaining several days longer than they originally intended.

Persons from many parts of the world are in Victoria today. They have come mostly, of course, from many parts of the United States, but they are also here from Europe, Australia and India.

On the Empress Hotel register today are the names of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Holbrow of London, who will remain here several months, joining the large colony of Londoners already established here; Miss M. R. McMillan, Glasgow; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wyeth, Victoria, Australia; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Cazier, Bombay, India; Gerald Lloyd and his son, Philip Lloyd, of Birmingham, England, and W. B. Waddle, Australia.

Other guests in town today are: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bell, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. O. Holler and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Geigl, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hofer, Oswego, Oregon; Miss W. A. Johnston, Mrs. J. P. Hoffmann, and Mrs. Amanda Huffman, Brantford, Ont.; Dr. and Mrs. F. Berg, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harris, New York; Mr. and Mrs. D. T. McNabb, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nevill, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Hancock, Edmonton; Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Bumpus, Beverly Hills; Mrs. Henry Kohl and her daughter, Miss Louise Kohl of New Jersey, who are on their way to Alaska.

Advocate of Living Alone Wed Today

Marjorie Hillis Bride Of Store Operator; Gets Much Kidding

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—Dark-haired Marjorie Hillis, who wrote a book telling people how to enjoy living alone, was married today.

Not only that, but she: 1. Proclaimed "there's nothing to beat old-fashioned love." 2. Announced she would "like to raise a family."

The 49-year-old New Yorker, famed as author of "Live Alone and Like It," capitulated to romance in a marriage to Thomas Henry Roulston, 65, Brooklyn chain store operator. His 30-year-old son acted as best man and his two grandchildren watched the ceremony in the home of the bride's sister here.

They'll sail in the Normandie from New York tomorrow night for a European honeymoon.

"I'm all excited," confessed the bride—whose friends kept reminding her she once wrote that it was better to live in a bathtub than wait around for a swain's telephone call.

TAKEN MUCH KIDDING

What did she have to say for herself, falling in love like this after all that about the advantages of being a bachelor girl? "I've taken so much kidding I'm used to it."

"I will be a housewife—the old-fashioned kind. Why, I have already dropped all my syndicate writing. I'd like to raise a family."

It was an old-fashioned ceremony all the way. There was something old, something new; something borrowed, something blue; and all that sort of thing. The Rev. Henry Wolf, quietly coached the principals in their roles before the ceremony. Old shoes and rice showered around the retreating newlyweds.

"That," chuckled a bystander as the couple drove happily away, "is what happens to those bachelor girls..."

Queen Elizabeth's Cousin To Be Bride

LONDON (CP)—The engagement was announced today of Sarah Susannah Bowes-Lyon, cousin of the Queen, and Peter Hugh Dudley Ryder, son of Hon. A. D. Ryder.

Miss Bowes-Lyon was bridesmaid yesterday for her sister, Caroline Ann Bowes-Lyon, who was married to Ross Llewellyn, son of Gen. E. H. Llewellyn.

CATHOLIC YOUTH CONFERENCE HELD

Canadian youth should offer constructive effort to assist the cause of democracy rather than merely criticize a form of government far superior to that prevailing in other countries, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran told assembled members of the Catholic Youth Organization of the Diocese of Victoria in convention at Nanaimo last Sunday. Approximately 200 delegates from Victoria, Willows, Esquimalt, Duncan, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Qualicum Beach, Courtenay and Port Alberni attended the gathering. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Baker, V.G., was the celebrant at the Solemn High Mass in St. Peter's Church which opened the convention. He was assisted by Rev. Father Lewis MacLellan, parish priest, as-deacon, and Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette, subdeacon. The sermon was delivered by Father MacLellan. Under the chairmanship of John W. Bellis, diocesan president, delegates adopted their new constitution and amendments, decided to affiliate with the Catholic Youth Union of Canada and chose Nanaimo for the 1940 convention city. P. Fagan, president of the Holy Name Society, spoke on the objectives of Catholic youth. A picnic and sports were enjoyed by the party at Newcastle Island during the conference.

Men Of Feathers Flock Together At Seventh World Poultry Congress

By J. H. SMITH
CLEVELAND.—International neighbors are leaning over the back fence and chatting about their chickens here. Poultrymen, at least, have forgotten racial differences to exchange business suggestions and ideas.

The "ambassadors" who brought the boys together wear feathers instead of frock coats. They're prize poultry—chickens, geese, ducks, turkeys, pigeons—participants in the World Poultry Congress, being held in the United States for the first time.

This show comes off only once every three years. So, when it comes, it's big. The 1939 congress is the seventh in history; it cost a million dollars, covers 20 acres on the shores of Lake Erie. Six foreign nations provide the main sideshow attraction—an exhibit of 700 rare birds in the Hall of Live Poultry, a regular Bronx zoo of poultrydom.

DUTCH DUCKS; FRENCH FEATHERS

British Columbia and the rest of Canada have sent many interesting entries, including the new sexed eggs from the University of British Columbia.

Holland brings the ducks: bantam quacker, smallest of the species, valued at $100 a specimen. The Dutch also present a Golden Laced Crested rooster with blue shanks and a full, high crown of feathers.

The Salmon Faverolle chicken of France wears a natural muff around its neck and sports a beard of feathers. Great Britain and Canada have sent "delegates." The majestic Cubalaya, national breed of Cuba, whose feature is a coat of many shiny colors, is on display.

Mussolini's Italy provides a surprise in a large array of pigeons. Particularly the white Romagnoli which looks just like that dove you see flitting about in the peace posters. One of the shows beauties, the Romagnoli sets off its attractiveness with cute, feathered feet.

Italy's 137 birds are supervised by Dr. Alessandro Ghigi, noted scientist and president of the University of Bologna. Ghigi has developed many kinds of fowl, including the Ghigi bantam chicken—a cocky little mite with a grey spangled body and tufted head. Banty is attending the congress, too.

Strange as it may seem, a great number of these odd and fancy breeds are not raised, like race horses, purely for show. Such outstanding examples as congress visitors see won't get the ax, but—

"With most of these men it's a business," says Dr. Willard C. Thompson of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., who has charge of the international live bird exhibit. "The strange Salmon Faverolle, for instance, is used to supply high-quality table meat for the Paris market."

MINUS HER GIZZARD

America has a few fowl freaks too—like Lady Lime Crest, chicken without a gizzard, who was flown from New Jersey to Cleveland in an airplane. This hen is living without grit after her gizzard was experimentally removed.

Primarily, however, the roles of 5,000 American birds at the congress are as entries in contests. Harry Atkins of Davenport, Ia., president of the American Poultry Association, has charge of the competitive program. First prizes are bronze medals—but they are more cherished than cash by the fortunate farmers.

Poultry experts have come from abroad to give free advice to Mr. John Farmer of the U.S. Dr. Ghigi is one. Dr. Carl Vetter of Berlin, agricultural official in the Nazi government and head of the World's Poultry Science Association, is another. Madame Glovlez of France, noted woman poultry raiser, is still another.

Ace representative is Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who is president of the congress this year.

The congress is a stunt of the World's Poultry Science Association, with headquarters in Holland. This organization has 600,000 members throughout the world.

Government officials of the host nation must issue an invitation to the association. When this has been accepted, cities in that country bid for the convention. The first congress was held at The Hague, Netherlands, 18 years ago.

500,000 GUESTS; 22,000 EGGS

The congress closes its 11-day stand on August 7. Before that date, almost 500,000 visitors will have passed through the turnstiles. They will have had a look at some 15,000 fowl, viewed educational exhibits.

Representatives of the poultry game will have seen displays of modern equipment and supplies for their business. They will have attended short course meetings in Cleveland's auditorium where hatchery man, processor, and purveyor get together to swap suggestions.

Farm youngsters from all sections of the United States will have participated in a youth program, designed to instruct youngsters in poultry raising, poultry judging and proper use of poultry products.

And about 22,000 eggs will have been laid. But the "hen fruit" won't get far from the exposition grounds. The common, breakfast variety will be used in a transparent kitchen, where home economic stars will show customers how poultry and its by-products can be used in many different ways.

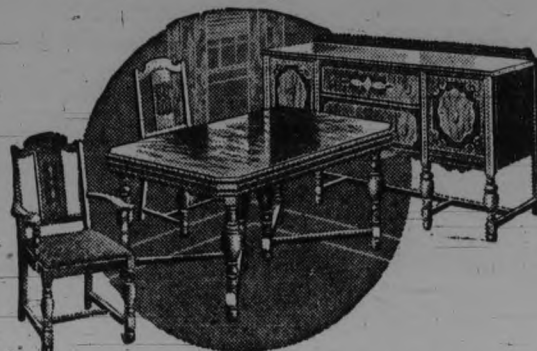

The rest—those eggs from rare breeds—will be destroyed. The owners don't want "back-yard poultrymen" trying to see what they can hatch out of them.

KRISPIES CRACKLE-tantrums go!

Believe it or not... they once had to coax little Helen R. to eat breakfast! But now! First time she heard that cracklin' 'n' poppin' that comes when Rice Krispies meet cream... why tantrums were over for good!

Whole families—thousands of them, right across Canada—delight in these honey-colored bubbles of crispness. Order Kellogg's Rice Krispies today. Made only by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

TELLS PROBLEMS OF SOUTH AFRICA

Dr. A. S. Raubenheimer Discusses Union's Difficulties in Kiwanis Talk

The Union of South Africa today faces the most burning and human problems of any country, Dr. A. S. Raubenheimer, professor of education at the University of Southern California, told the Kiwanis Club in a luncheon address yesterday.

Whereas most countries suffered from economic difficulties, South Africa's were largely problems regarding human relations around which were centred the building of a nation.

There were 6,000,000 natives and 2,000,000 whites in the Union and the chief concern at present was to develop a people that would be truly one. There was progress toward this end being promoted by education. Bilingualism was becoming a vital part of the educational system and this, more than anything, was serving to encourage the much-needed unity.

Bilingualism gave people an opportunity to understand each other where formerly they had been unable to do so. Dr. Raubenheimer discussed the segregation problem which was being considered in the various states, showing the difficulty encountered with this because of the distribution of the natives.

'Y' Secretary to Attend Meetings

Frank Paulding, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., will leave tomorrow on a 12-day trip south during which he will attend two conventions in connection with the association.

From August 6 to 11 Mr. Paulding will be in Asilomar, where the Pacific Southwest Area Y.M.C.A. secretarial conference will be held.

Two Minneapolis Newspapers Merged

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minneapolis Journal, evening and Sunday paper in its 61st year of publication, was purchased yesterday by the Minneapolis Star, also an evening newspaper.

John Cowles, president of the Star Company, and Carl W. Jones, president of the Journal, in announcing the consolidation, said the combined newspapers would be published in the evening and Sunday field as the Star-Journal effective immediately. The purchase price was not announced.

A pilot now must have at least 1,000 hours before he is even considered for training as a First Officer.

Labor Leader Tells Rally How MRA Changed Him

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—A British Labor leader told massed thousands here last night of leading "wild mobs" that "broke thousands of dollars of windows night after night" in London and of how a member of the social class he had "despised" had shown him the error of his leadership.

Bill Rowell, representing London's unemployed, spoke to an audience gathered to learn something about moral rearmament—a new movement which has for its goal international peace and peace between employers and employees.

Rowell told how he had watched men grow gaunt and hollow-eyed; children starve and babies die of hunger and disease in squalid cellars. His soul grew bitter. He began a blind, raging fight against what he thought were the forces oppressing the common people.

"Yes, it was I who organized the most powerful forces in England," he shouted. "It was I who led hunger march after hunger march. It was I who led the wild mobs that broke thousands of dollars of windows..."

"Then a man, a man whom I recognized as coming from the class of society I despised, came to my house. He was Miles Fillmore, son of a nobleman."

"He came to my house and said: 'I'm sorry I belong to the class which has been so largely responsible for the plight of your people. Now I want to do something for you.'

"That kind of talk I had never heard before. It startled me and I began to think things over... I saw that my leadership was wrong. I saw that I was helping class against class."

"I saw that the same thing was happening all over the world—nation against nation, class against class, labor against capital—man against man, brother against brother."

"Miles Fillmore stayed at my house for two weeks. I couldn't even give him a bed. He slept in a chair. But he brought moral rearmament to me..."

"I in turn imbedded it in the minds of my followers, and we practiced it. It spreads like wildfire throughout the district until six months later it was absolutely in control of 47 boroughs on the outskirts of London."

"Parliament became interested and asked us to speak there. We did and that night 23 members of Parliament dedicated the rest of their lives to moral rearmament."

Today Rowell and others with him went to Del Monte to attend the second world assembly for moral rearmament. Their goal is world-wide inculcation of: Absolute honesty; absolute love; absolute purity, and absolute unselfishness.

TEACHERS ENJOY DRAMA OFFERING

Shakespearean Artists Attract Big Audience at Victoria High School

The auditorium of the Victoria High School was filled to capacity yesterday morning with student teachers attending the annual Department of Education's Summer School, for a varied and expert dramatic recital by Allan Wilkie, C.B.E., and Miss Frediwyde Hunter-Watts, celebrated English artists.

Miss Hunter-Watts and Mr. Wilkie have produced 27 of Shakespeare's plays, and have presented them to audiences of 30 different nationalities the world over.

Their program today included eight different Shakespearean scenes and the famous quarrel scene from Sheridan's "The School for Scandal."

The Shakespearean scenes presented were: The prologue from "Henry VIII"; the murder scene from "Macbeth"; the English lesson from "Henry V"; the wooing scene from "Richard III"; the gravediggers' scene from "Hamlet"; Catherine's defence from "Henry VIII"; the seven ages from "As You Like It"; and the epilogue from "As You Like It."

Yesterday a special meeting, called at the request of a number of B.C. Teachers' Federation members attending the school, attracted interest with R. P. Steeves and A. T. Alsby, both of Vancouver, speaking. Different phases in the interest of the federation, were covered by the speakers.

Today, Thursday and Friday, student teachers attending the school will be given the opportunity of being vaccinated against smallpox.

Famous New York Club Stripped

NEW YORK (AP)—Another symbol of boom days and dry ones fell under the auctioneer's hammer today.

Pots and pans and imported chinaware were stripped from the building that once was the Embassy Club, first an oasis for society millionaires and later a ritzy rendezvous for racketeers.

Each year, 25,000 adult and juvenile offenders are put on probation in England and Wales. The proportion of those who lapse back into crime is very small.

The Pacific Ocean covers more area than all the earth's land put together.

Britain Sends to Canada

A REMARKABLE NEW ANTISEPTIC

'DETTOL' Offers You ALL These Qualities:
Non-Poisonous! • Non-Staining! • Several Times as Strong as Pure Carbolic Acid! (Hygienic Laboratory Test)
Gentle to Human Tissue! • Agreeable Odour!

FOR YEARS medical science faced this problem! Antiseptics powerful enough to kill germs and prevent infection usually destroyed skin tissue and delayed healing, while those harmless to the skin were often ineffective against germs.

Then came 'DETTOL', the remarkable British Antiseptic with several times the strength of pure carbolic acid, by the Hygienic Laboratory Test. The British medical profession quickly approved—for 'DETTOL' is deadly to germs, yet gentle to human tissue, non-poisonous, non-staining and of agreeable odour.

Readily accepted by Canadian hospitals and doctors especially for use in maternity work, 'DETTOL' is now being made available for general home use. Your druggist can supply it.

Keep a bottle of 'DETTOL' Antiseptic in your medicine cabinet, for use on CUTS • BITES • ABRASIONS • SORE THROAT • ALL PERSONAL USES.

GOVERNOR'S SON HOME—His studies at Oxford over—but the results not yet announced—Hon. Alastair Buchan, youngest son of His Excellency the Governor-General, arrived at Quebec in the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Bedford. "Another week or so," he told reporters smilingly "and I'll know the worst." Seen above are (left to right): The General, arrived at Quebec in the Lady Tweedsmuir, who welcomed her son home at Wolfe's Cove; Hon. Mr. Buchan, and Mrs. P. V. Carruthers of London, his aunt, who accompanied him to Canada and who will spend some time visiting Their Excellencies.

"WILD" DEER CAUGHT NAPPING—"Barnegat Pete," the fawn rescued several years ago from a Barnegat, N.J., forest fire by Raymond Beckitt, demonstrates here that wild life can be very domestic. The orphaned deer is pictured in the upstairs bedroom of the Beckitt home with his good friend, the family cat.

YOUNG VICTIM OF SEX SLAYING—Slaying of 11-year-old farm girl Elizabeth DeBruicker, above, was confessed by 27-year-old Thomas Boyce, greens keeper at Harrison Hills Country Club near Attica, Ind. Strangled with belt from her dress, child was found in improvised grave on golf course. She had been criminally assaulted.

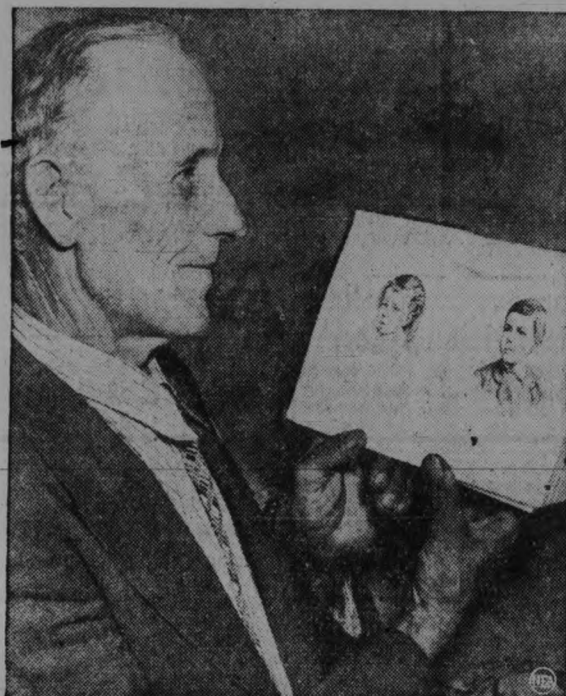

THE QUEEN AT GARDEN PARTY—The Queen wore this striking costume at the recent garden party held by Toc H in the grounds of Hampton Court Palace, famed showplace and residence of kings near London. On hand to bid her welcome was Rev. P. B. "Tubby" Clayton, the founder padre of the organization. The royal family retains a keen interest in Toc H, which was organized during the world war along the western front to keep alive the spirit of united effort and common sacrifice. Especially strong in the empire, it is world-wide in activity. His Majesty is patron. Two days after the fete the Duchess of Gloucester (Right), was treated to an amusing surprise at the London Mothers' Convalescent Home at Sunningdale, near the metropolis. When children came forward to present her with purses to mark the institution's jubilee, this lad put them all to shame in the elaborateness of his bow.

TAR, FEATHER VICTIM—Alice Knowles, Calgary nurse, was allegedly tarred and feathered by Mrs. Ethel Allen and her daughter Betty, the wife and daughter of a prominent western physician. So seriously was she injured that it was necessary to remove her to hospital.

"CHARLEY ROSS" BACK "HOME"—In Philadelphia to press claim to a share of the Ross fortune, Gustave Blair, a carpenter whom an Arizona court ruled was the famous Charley Ross, kidnapped 65 years ago, examines drawings of Charles and Walter Ross as children. Walter Ross, also kidnapped, was found, is still living in Philadelphia.

ATTACK ON MODERN MORALS—Pouring second scathing attack on liquor and "high life" society into microphone, Michigan's 80-year-old crusading Gov. Luren Dickinson broadcasts from Lansing, state capital. Innocent young girls he saw drinking at recent governors' conference in Albany, N.Y., and being misled by sleek young city men.

SOUNDS WARNING—Speaking at an all-party audience at a House of Commons dinner in London, Lord Nuffield, British motor magnate and philanthropist, is taking a great interest in Britain's defence projects, and is shown here at the controls of a 3.7 anti-aircraft gun during a recent visit to the London anti-aircraft battery. He is honorary colonel of a British regiment and his schemes for "shadow factories" have greatly increased the aircraft output for the Royal Air Force.

NO WONDER HAS HAD HEADACHE—Looking at knife blade of same length and similar to that taken from his brain by Los Angeles surgeons, Valeriano Chaidze understands why his head hurt. Bothered by severe headaches and dizzy spells, Chaidze reported to doctors recently. X-ray photo, lower, revealed blade imbedded in head. Chaidze says he must have carried it since fight 14 years ago.

MONTH BEFORE TOBACCO READY—Gleaming green in the sun, 77,000 acres of multi-leaved tobacco plants are slowly ripening for the August harvest in a great belt that now spreads through Kent, Norfolk, Lambton, Elgin, Middlesex, Oxford and Brant counties in Ontario. Then boss pickers, like the man at the left, will guide squads of men who, picking first the leaves at the bottom of each plant, will gradually strip great fields. Almost lost in the far-reaching rows of tobacco, right, Manager Taylor Barnes of a farm near Princeton, points out this year's fine crop to co-owner Cecil Elliot of Woodstock. It costs $30,000 before the first crop is taken off a new 100-acre farm, Mr. Elliot revealed, but this may gross $50,000 in one year.

Californians Take Matches

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

DICK METZ, who set such a sizzling pace to capture the St. Paul open golf tournament Sunday with an 18 under par 72-hole card, wants golf leaders to stage a United States match play open, featuring hole play as the United States open exalts medal competition. He would like to see such talented simon-pures as Bud Ward, Johnny Goodman, Johnny Fischer, Charley Yates, Willie Turnesa, Freddie Haas, Art Doering, and Dick Chapman scrambling against crack professionals in 18 or 36-hole matches.

The San Francisco match play open is a huge box office success because the customers get a kick out of amateurs knocking off money players. Spectators root for the medal chasers.

A professional stands to lose prestige if a simon-pure defeats him.

Receipts hit an all-time high while Robert Tyre Jones was showing up salaried and prize money seeking stars.

Hot amateurs would give top name professionals a whale of an argument on a man to man basis.

Two amateurs qualified for the San Francisco match play open last winter and gave fine accounts of themselves.

In the second round, Metz barely scraped by Doering, 2 and 1, after the Chicago district's ranking amateur repelled Johnny Bulla, one of the longer-driving professionals.

Ward bowled over Zell Eaton, Lawson Little and Ben Hogan on his way to face Metz in a see-saw semifinal.

Ward displayed more poise than the professionals.

The Spokane star had Metz 2 down with five holes to go, but the dark and handsome glamour boy of the money ranks got his masie nibble working in the stretches and laid the ball up for a clutch which nosed out his chance-taking opponent on the 17th green.

The Belmont, Mass., $10,000 match play tournament of 1937 was open to amateurs and Frank Stracai gave Paul Runyan the scare of his life.

The graduate of Brooklyn's public links matched the little man with the big spoon pitch for pitch, chip for chip and putt for putt. He was up all the way until Little Poison caught him on the last few holes and just sneaked through.

Unless heads of the Professional Golfers' Association change their attitude, Metz has an idea that the playing professionals may have to break away from the parent body and stage their own championship.

"It seems obvious," says the professional of Chicago's Mill Road Farm course, "that a majority of our P.G.A. officials are more interested in enforcing silly technicalities against professional top-flighters than in building the P.G.A. championship into a dramatic public spectacle."

Metz refers to the Denny Shute case, of course, where the committee was willing to sacrifice the prestige of its own championship merely because the Ohioan who had twice won the title was a couple of days late in mailing his dues.

The playing professionals hold that the customers should be catered to . . . that the P.G.A. should present its strongest possible field.

The teaching professional is the backbone of golf, Metz and the rest admit, but he has no box office value.

Certain diehards on the executive committee seem to consider the P.G.A. championship a private affair, conducted merely for the benefit of organization members, rather than a public pageant.

What playing professionals are concerned about is public interest, which spells galleries and receipts.

A United States match play open would help them attain that end.

March Through Engagements in B.C. Tennis Championships at Willows

Favored Californians advanced through all divisions of the British Columbia lawn tennis championships as the second day of play was completed at the Victoria Club yesterday. Majority of the matches were decided in straight sets as the seeded players marched a step closer to Saturday's finals.

Eddie Amark, San Francisco, seeded number one in the men's singles, made his first appearance on the courts and dropped nine games in winning his second round match from Reg. Corfield, homester, 6-2, 9-7, P. Guilford, Los Angeles, number three, scored a straight victory over W. H. Hoogs, Honolulu, 6-2, 6-0, while T. Coulthard, Berkeley, number four, needed only two sets to put out T. Tunnel, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4.

In third-round matches Bill Canning, Alameda, and Jack Gurey, Sacramento, defeated a pair of Victorians, C. Brand and Commander J. C. I. Edwards, respectively. The latter put up a game show against the California youngster, but after taking the first set 3-6, dropped the next two 6-4, 6-2.

Women's singles lost some of their flavor when Dr. Esther Bartosh, Los Angeles, seeded number four, defaulted her match to Miss Jean Murphy, Los Angeles.

Dr. Bartosh, who suffered an injured ankle in the western Canada championships at Vancouver last week, decided to confine her competition to the doubles events.

Miss Eleanor Young, Vancouver, defending champion, had little trouble winning her second round match from Miss A. Niland, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-0.

The Milne sisters of Vancouver, Jean and Susie, won and lost in matches yesterday. The former defeated Miss L. Kitchin, Victoria, 6-0, 6-1, while Susie was beaten by Miss J. Brooke, Santa Monica, in a three-set struggle, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Opening matches were run off yesterday in the doubles events with all the favorites coming through as expected.

Ask B.C. Body Lift Suspension

Mid-island Softball Association Takes Action Following Meeting

Latest move in the softball situation that resulted in the mid-island association being suspended by the British Columbia executive took place at Duncan last night.

At a meeting of the mid-island executive the following telegram was sent to Bert Davidson, Vancouver, B.C., association secretary:

"We, the Mid-island Softball Association, request the B.C. Softball Association to lift the suspension of the said Mid-island Softball Association as ordered at the meeting held in Nanaimo on July 30, by midnight August 4, as we feel same has been unjustly imposed. This decision is necessary for the sponsors of our teams.

Failing to lift suspension at time specified this association will sever all connections with the British Columbia body. Our reasons for not attending meeting Sunday were clearly defined in our letter of July 23, and we are still willing to take up the matter in the manner suggested therein."

The telegram was under the signature of J. A. Knight, secretary.

Famous Baseball Statistician Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Munro Elias, 67, official statistician for the National and International Leagues for more than 20 years, died of a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday.

Elias had been ill for several years, and the active work of carrying on the Al Munro Elias Baseball Bureau, Inc., which supplied statistics to newspapers, had been carried on by his brother Walter.

In addition to the National and International Leagues, his bureau was official statistical source for several minor leagues. After the death of Charley White a few years ago, Elias was named to complete the annual "Charley White's Record Book," known among baseball writers as the "Little Red Book," which contains every major league baseball record for more than half a century.

TENNIS TEAM SAILS

LONDON (CP)—The British Wightman Cup team sailed for New York on the liner Queen Mary today to meet the United States women tennis players at Forest Hills, August 25 and 26.

Members of the team are Betty Nuthall, captain; Jack Stammers, Freda James Hammersley, Mary Hardwick, Valery Scott and Nina Brown.

The first boat, by the way, was won by a 17½-pound spring.

The meet will open as usual at 6 in the morning and close at 6 in the evening, with the Anchor age being the main weighing-in station and Stacey's at Goldstream being a subweighing-in station.

Sunday's first-prize boat is on display outside the Poodle Dog Cafe and the other prizes can be seen in the cafe's display window.

The prize list follows: Second prize, 52-piece dinner set; third prize, electric cake mixer and fixtures; fourth prize, silver tea set and tray; fifth prize, large silver serving tray; sixth prize, covered silver entree dish; seventh prize, two-piece electric toaster; eighth prize, silver casserole; men's consolation prize, large mantel clock; ladies' consolation prize, silver coffee urn set.

Sabin Causes Uproar

Portland Star Upsets Southampton Tennis By Defaulting Match; Favorites Lose

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)—The 49th annual Meadow Club invitation tournament wedged itself deeper into its crazy pattern yesterday with the defeat of four seeded players, a show of temper by unranked Wayne Sabin, and various other sundries.

The defeated quartette were Gene Mako of Los Angeles, No. 2; Gil Hunt of Washington, D.C., No. 3; Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., No. 5, and Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., No. 7. Even these surprises took a back seat to the really insane happenings of the day.

Sabin started it when he defaulted midway in the second set of his morning engagement with Gardner Mulloy of Miami. Sabin had won the first set 7-5, and Mulloy was leading in the second 3-1. Suddenly Sabin walked to the sidelines and donned a pair of spiked shoes.

The Portland, Ore., player had been slipping and sliding all over the turf, but he knew, as well as the others, that there was a strict rule against spikes on the front courts. The manager of the tournament committee reminded him of the regulation, but Sabin retorted it was either spikes or default. It turned out to be default.

Langford Races Saturday Night

Local and United States Auto Racers Will Stage Another Show

Automobile racing will be back at the Langford Speedway for thrill-craving Victorians Saturday night.

Everything was under control following a meeting of the British Columbia Automobile Sports Association last evening in the British Public Schools Club and local drivers accepted conditions submitted by the Langford Speedway.

Three American drivers have been signed to take part Saturday, with a probability that the famous Wally Schock, Los Angeles, will make a fourth.

Those who have been signed are Lou McMurtry in car 62, Jimmy Symes in car 27 and an unknown driver at the wheel of Al Ramsay's car 22.

Bert Sutton, local ace and winner of the last meet's main event, will be out with his car No. 1 in top shape. Other locals ready for the meet are Jimmy Laird, No. 2; Sid Holdridge, No. 4; Digger Caldwell, No. 5; Jerry Vantreight, No. 7; Fred Carson, No. 8; Jimmy Wells, No. 10, and Joe White, No. 81.

Petey Sarron Hurt And Companion Dead

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Petey Sarron, former world featherweight boxing champion, was injured and a companion killed in an automobile accident yesterday near here.

Sarron, who held the featherweight title from 1936 to 1938, was brought to a hospital here, his head and arms bruised.

Robert McCain of Birmingham was dead when taken from the wreckage of the automobile.

Sarron, now fighting as a lightweight, lost the featherweight championship to Henry Armstrong, present titleholder.

Conservatives Defeat Alerts

Norman Baker Scores Last-minute Goal to Decide Senior Boxla Clash

After several weeks' relapse, Manager George Corness' Conservative box lacrosse team got back into winning stride last night.

With blonde-haired Norman Baker showing the way by contributing exactly half of the score, the green-sweated lads checked in with a 14 to 13 triumph over Alert Service in a senior battle that featured a two-game program in the Willows Park sports auditorium.

The verdict did not change the standings. It did, however, bring the Conservatives to within a game of the second-place Alerts.

James Bay is leading, four full games ahead of the transfer men. Last night's engagement was the closest senior meeting of the last two weeks or more. It was of the nip-and-tuck variety and it was Norman Baker, who is following in the athletic footsteps of his father, Cyril Baker, who fired in the winning goal for the greenshirts in the hectic closing minutes of play that had the fans wild with excitement.

Alerts were kept on the short end of the score all through the first three sessions, although they got as close as two points to their opponents' total seven times.

ALERTS TIE SCORE

But their fighting spirit never waned, and when the horn sounded for the opening of the last period of play they came in fighting mad and the period was not very old before they had thrown the score into a tie. Going into this thrill-packed session the Alerts were trailing Conservatives, 11 to 9, but after Red Baker had boosted the score to 12, McDonald of the Alerts netted and then Norman Cooke rapped in a pair of quick tallies to clinch the count at 12 to 12.

Art Entwistle made it 13 to 12 for the Conservatives but N. Coates, a five-goal man during the evening, came back with a big goal to again tie the score. By this time excitement was at a high pitch and the Conservative boosters went wild when N. Baker blasted in the deciding goal of the game with a minute of play remaining.

It was a sweet game to win and a heart-breaker to lose.

Score by periods:
Alert Service..... 2 2 5-13
Conservatives..... 5 2 4 3-14

In a preliminary game, Times Terriers defeated Oaklands, 12 to 6.

Popham and Ross officiated. Teams and scorers follow:
Alert Service—Gawley, D. Coates 1, Williams 1, Cockin, Langdon, Brown 2, Bischlager, N. Coates 5, Pickford 1, Price, Riely 1, McDonald 2, and Thompson. Total, 13.

Los Angeles—Ricardo Lemos, 126, Los Angeles, stopped Henry Hooks, 129½, Indianapolis (10). Milwaukee—George Burnett, 158, Detroit, outpointed Irish Jimmy Jones, 159, Baltimore (10).

Garfield, N.J.—Jackie (Kid) Berg, 144, England, outpointed Joe Greb, 142, Herkimer, N.Y. (8).

Methods Take Lead

Whip Douglas Tire 3 to 2 to Open Softball Final; Bradley's Homer Wins

A circuit drive in the first inning by Lionel Bradley, with a pair of runners on the bags, carried New Method Laundry softballers through to a sweet 3 to 2 victory over Manager Frank Shandley's Douglas Tire Shop nine last night at Athletic Park.

It was the first of a two-out-of-three game series for the right to oppose Victoria Longshoremen in the final for the lower island senior crown.

If the Methods take another victory verdict when the clubs meet for their second scrap tomorrow night at Athletic Park they will advance to the final bracket.

Both outfits played heads up ball. Sparking infield plays featured the exhibition and outfielders made some splendid catches.

Treemen got their two runs in the fourth and seventh frames. Dave Robertson doubled through second base to score Levy in the

Eagles Oppose Gasmen Tonight

Meet in Crucial Baseball Playoff Game At Athletic Park

The playoff, fued between Pitzer and Nex and Eagles will continue this evening at the Athletic Park when they take over the diamond for the fourth game of their preliminary Rithet Cup baseball playoffs. Game will start at 6.15.

Winner of this best-of-five series meets leading Athletics in the final playoffs for the city championship.

After suffering two straight defeats at the hands of Pitzer and Nex last week, Eagles managed to keep in the running for the laurels Monday night of this week when they held the gasmen to a 7 to 7 draw.

Eagles must win tonight to keep in the championship fight. Another win for the gashouse gang will advance them to the final.

DAVIDS HERE FRIDAY

A barnstorming team that has been drawing well across Canada and in the United States, the colored House of David, will make a three-game stand in Victoria against the local all-stars Friday and Saturday at the Athletic Park.

The tourists will play one game Friday at 6 in the evening and will go up against McGinnis' club twice on Saturday at 2.30 and 6. In a second division baseball game played last night, Navy defeated third-place Cubs, 9 to 0, at Beacon Hill Park.

MIDDLESEX WINS CRICKET MATCH

In Easy Victory Over Nottinghamshire to Gain On Leading Yorkshire

LONDON (CP)—Middlesex gained ground on the leading Yorkshire eleven in the English county cricket championship yesterday with a 10-wickets margin over Nottinghamshire. The Yorkists took only first-innings points from Surrey.

Worcestershire came from behind to snatch a one-point decision from Glamorgan who took four points for leading on the first innings.

The scores:
Nottinghamshire 194 and 366 (Keeton 100); Middlesex 512 for seven wickets, declared, and 19 for no wickets.

Information is being sought in Victoria regarding Helen Hornby, who was killed during the weekend in an accident in New Brunswick. For a time Mrs. Hornby stayed at 430 Dallas Road, Victoria, and it is believed that for a time she was a housekeeper at a house on Quadra Street. She came to Victoria from Vancouver.

TOWN TOPICS

The closing meeting for the season of Central W.C.T.U. will take the form of a picnic at the Japanese Tea Gardens at the Gorge tomorrow afternoon at 3.

Members of the Victoria Poultry Association will meet tomorrow evening at 8 in the Y.M.C.A. when entries for the Fall Fair will be among important matters under discussion.

Last night in the Y.M.C.A. hall, Mrs. O. Brake addressed a crowded meeting of the Victoria and District British-Israel Association on "Palestine and the Mandate." She said that Palestine was a special reservation to God Himself, to be administered by the one people to whom he told Abraham it should belong. Owing to the failure of that people to do His will, it has lain barren and unproductive, as was foretold, but today its wonderful resources are being developed, and the closer we come to God and obey His commandments, then indeed His Kingdom will reign on earth.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Canadian Anti-vice Society letters were read on humane slaughtering from the Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa, and on quarantine regulations from the Minister of Agriculture in England. Guernsey wrote relative to a struggle against compulsory immunization on that island and R. A. Pease of Vancouver on the cancer fund. Victoria Public Library acknowledged the gift of a book "The Mind Changers." Similar copies have been sent to Nanaimo, Duncan and Vancouver libraries. A committee was appointed to discuss a project to provide a building for the local society. There will be no board meeting in August.

HOTTEST DAY TODAY

Victoria sweltered in its hottest day of the summer today as the mercury reached 85 degrees at Gonzales Observatory, and was considerably closer to 90 in the city.

The heat drove hundreds of store workers to lakes and beaches as they enjoyed their weekly half-holiday. The previous hottest day was on July 26 when the temperature reached 81 on Gonzales Hill.

BRIDGES SAYS HE AIDS DEMOCRACY

States He Once Jokingly Said He Was Communist

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Bridges, west coast C.I.O. director, testified at his deportation hearing today he once jokingly said he was a member of the Communist Party, but added he did not believe the party was subversive.

Bridges, who has insisted repeatedly he is not a Communist Party member, testified he believed in the democratic form of government, but was opposed to the "capitalistic form of society which to me means the exploitation of a lot of people for profit."

The United States government seeks to deport the Australian-born labor leader on the grounds the Communist Party advocates the overthrow of the United States through force and violence and that Bridges is a member.

Bridges testified that at the time of the maritime convention at Los Angeles in 1935 "red baiting" had become such a standing joke everyone gave the Communist salute as he entered the convention hall and addressed the chairman as "commissar chairman."

Kamloops M.P. Sees No War in Europe

KAMLOOPS (CP)—T. J. O'Neill, Liberal member of Parliament for Kamloops, is back from Europe with a prediction there won't be any war this year or next.

And on that prediction Mr. O'Neill—technical adviser to Canada's delegate to the International Labor Conference in Geneva—bases his belief there will be a federal election this autumn.

"I'm led to believe there'll be no war in Europe, and therefore, that there will be an election around October or November," he said, announcing at the same time that he intended to seek the Kamloops Liberal nomination for re-election.

40 Wharf Men Fly VANCOUVER (CP)—Forty longshoremen, employed by the Canamoku Company, were flown today from Port Tassie on Nootka Sound to Nanaimo, a distance of 135 miles.

Bill Holland, senior pilot of Ginger Coote Airways, made four trips in one plane, while Pilot Don Lawson made three trips in another.

Company officials said it was necessary to get the men back to Nanaimo by this afternoon.

REPORT SOON ON SEWER CONDITION

Provincial Health Officer Instructed to Study Saanich Problem

The provincial health officer will present a recommendation "at an early date" on Victoria's request for action by provincial authorities to improve sewerage service in Saanich, the city was informed in a short note from Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, today.

The question of overcoming the health menace caused by flow of sewage from Saanich boundary areas into Victoria, was referred to the province by the city council at its last meeting.

Particular attention was drawn by the city to the conditions which exist on Burnside Road and Tolmie Avenue, near Jackson Street.

Bishop Burd Passes Here

Retired Prelate and War Veteran Dies in Hospital

Rt. Rev. Walter Burd, D.C.M., D.D., retired Anglican Bishop of Saskatchewan, and veteran of the Canadian and Imperial forces during the Great War, died this morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, aged 51 years. He is survived by his widow, at the family residence, 2470 Bowker Avenue, Oak Bay; two sons, Frederick and Oliver, and a daughter, Helen, all at home, and a sister, Miss Burd, at present in the city.

Bishop Burd was born in Cork, Ireland, on February 23, 1888, of English parentage, and was educated at schools in Colchester, England, and Athlone, Ireland. He entered Emmanuel College, University of Saskatchewan, in 1913, but on the outbreak of war joined the 28th Battalion C.E.F., and was badly wounded while serving with them in 1916. He was invalided home to Canada, but returned to England and joined the Artists' Rifles and then the 4th Battalion Worcestershire Regiment, and was awarded the D.C.M. He served throughout the war, finishing in 1919 with his original battalion, the 28th C.E.F.

On his return to Canada after the war, he entered Wycliffe College, being graduated in 1920. He was general secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew for Canada from 1920 to 1922, and was ordained priest in 1922. He was successively rector of the St. Albans Cathedral, Prince Albert, Sask., then, in 1929, Archdeacon of Prince Albert. In 1932 he was elected Bishop of Saskatchewan and consecrated on March 12, 1933, from which high office he retired reluctantly in March, 1939, owing to war disabilities.

Last year he came to Victoria to recuperate from injuries sustained in a motor accident, and had been in poor health for many months.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on Friday morning at 11, after which the remains will be forwarded to Saskatchewan for burial. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel has charge of the arrangements.

Hot to highly hazardous forest fire conditions all over the province were reported by the forest branch today in its weekly summary. Fire loss, so far, has been kept down, with 675 fires to date, compared with 1,275 at this time last year and 725 in 1937.

MEET TODAY ON TRANSPORT PLAN

Civic and Municipal Representatives Discuss Tenders for New System

Results of this afternoon's Greater Victoria transportation committee meeting will be reported to the City Council on Monday afternoon before any further action is taken on the question by the city, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated prior to the meeting today.

The committee is composed of the mayor and Aldermen Ed. Williams and W. L. Morgan, representing the city, and the Reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. The meeting was open, however, to any aldermen or councillors who wished to attend.

The purpose of the gathering lay mainly in presentation by the different municipal representatives of the reactions of their different councils to the proposal that tenders be called for a unified system of transportation.

Monday afternoon's council meeting will start at 3:30, according to present plans.

School Aid Voted for Soldiers' Children

A meeting of the commission administering the Education of Soldiers' Dependent Children Act was held yesterday, for the purpose of awarding grants for the coming school year. In all 652 applications were considered. Of these, 36 had to be rejected as they did not meet the requirements of the act in the matter of residence, age, educational standing of the candidate, or financial need. Grants for 616 were approved.

The progress of students receiving aid continues to be very satisfactory, it was reported. In the school year 1938-39, 94.89 per cent were promoted to a higher grade; 30 received complete, and

Circling World To Win a Bet

Toronto Engineer Plans to Girdle Globe in 85 Days

TORONTO (CP)—Harry Ross, 31-year-old mechanical engineer, will start out from here today to win a bet that he can circle the world in 85 days, touching only ports under British jurisdiction.

Ross, graduate of the University of Stanford, is permitted under terms of the bet to start with only a toothbrush, razor, handkerchief and 10 cents cash. He must not solicit rides, but can work his way or accept a lift if it is offered him. Ross, a native of Regina, said the first part of the trip had been solved by the offer of a Guelph man to get him an airplane ride to Vancouver.

Huge Iceberg Sighted In Belle Isle Strait

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—An iceberg, described as so vast its weight would exceed the combined tonnage of the British, United States and French navies, was described here today by naval officers from the United States warship New York.

The berg was one in a field of 15 sighted by the New York and two other battleships carrying cruising "midships" from Annapolis, Md., while in the strait of Belle Isle, between Newfoundland and Labrador, last month.

Leut. W. J. Marshall said the huge berg was 610 feet long, 142 feet high and was hard aground in water 300 feet deep.

Captain Gives Vivid Account of Rescue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The first eyewitness account of the death and horror attending the burning and sinking of the Bokuyo Maru was brought here Saturday by the captain of the ship which rescued 209 persons from the far Pacific's shark-infested waters.

Three other persons died.

The Bokuyo Maru burned, exploded and sank 3,900 miles west of San Francisco, July 18.

The rescue ship was the oil tanker Associated, en route from Manila to San Francisco, commanded by Capt. L. E. Hawkins of Oakland, Cal.

Capt. Hawkins got the distress signal when the vessels were 80 miles apart. He came on four lifeboats of "exhausted, thirsty and hungry people, packed tightly, with children, tucked under seats."

One boat had a dead man—Second Officer Chira. Some climbed to the tanker by a rope ladder; others were lifted aboard by chairs and cots. They had been afloat in the lifeboats about five hours.

Left behind were a stewardess and a three-year-old child, whose fate never was determined. The stewardess was last seen putting her life preserver on a youngster and pushing him overboard.

Capt. Hawkins was informed the chief officer and chief engineer of the Bokuyo Maru "knocked out" Capt. A. Amano, put a life preserver on him and threw him overboard because the captain had refused to leave the ship. They were the last three aboard. Several children also were thrown overboard and picked up.

He produced a small square of transparent plastic, strong and flexible, and explained that this material when multiplied in thickness would form the bodywork of his "invisible plane."

The inventor said he was planning to establish a plant for the manufacture and development of a plastic airplane called the "Helicoid."

"It is fairly definite that we shall manufacture the plane on a small island near Victoria," he said.

The initial plant will employ between 100 and 200 men, he said. With a staff of 1,200 it would be possible to produce 20 planes a day, Mr. Heiser added. He will return to Victoria Thursday.

Heiser Plans Plastic Planes

Expects to Operate Near Victoria He Tells Vancouver Press

VANCOUVER (CP)—An invisible airplane with a silent engine was pictured here today by Morris E. Heiser, English aircraft inventor who is in British Columbia inspecting potential sites for a manufacturing factory.

Claiming that he can manufacture an airplane of transparent plastic that will be invisible at a distance and equip it with a silent motor, Mr. Heiser told interviewers here on his arrival from Victoria that such a plane would have "deadly potentialities" in warfare.

He produced a small square of transparent plastic, strong and flexible, and explained that this material when multiplied in thickness would form the bodywork of his "invisible plane."

The inventor said he was planning to establish a plant for the manufacture and development of a plastic airplane called the "Helicoid."

"It is fairly definite that we shall manufacture the plane on a small island near Victoria," he said.

Y CAMP MORTGAGE WILL BE BURNED

Tomorrow evening members of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors and others interested in the work of the association will make a trip to Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake for an official "burning of the mortgage" ceremony.

The mortgage on the Y.M.C.A.'s 320 acres at Glinz Lake was recently paid off through a $2,000 gift by an anonymous donor.

With a near-capacity number of boys at the camp in its final session this summer, and the town visitors on hand, the mortgage will be burned at a special camp fire.

W. T. Straith, M.P.P., camp committee chairman, will preside over the ceremonies. The party from town will leave the Y.M.C.A. building at 5.15 and have supper at the camp. Viv' Shoemaker, boys' work secretary and camp director, will welcome the visitors and explain the workings of the institution along with the vast improvements that have been made at the site.

'Angels Have Wings' Opening at Atlas

Thrills thundering from the snow-capped Andes! Adventurers gathered from the seven seas! Women cast up from the forgotten past! Romance throbbing through the tropical nights!

A cast assembled from Hollywood's greatest... to bring 1939's greatest screen adventure! A mighty drama flung against an awesome backdrop, Columbia's "Only Angels Have Wings" opens tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre to tell a flaming story of romance and adventure in a tropical South American port.

DOMINION THEATRE

Akim Tamiroff has the most dramatic role of his career—that of a dictator-actor, Lloyd Nolan is cast as a reckless adventurer who pulls strings for the dictator, Mary Boland plays the ex-darling of the dictator, Patricia Morison provides romantic interest opposite Nolan and George Zucco plays an ardent patriot in Paramount's daring new drama, "The Magnificent Fraud," now at the Dominion Theatre. The story tells how Nolan dares to substitute an actor for the murdered dictator of the country because he realizes that a loan needed to put the country on its feet hangs in the balance! Woven into the timely dramatic aspects of the story are moments of fervent romance involving Patricia Morison and Lloyd Nolan. Steffi Duna, of the supporting cast, adds an exciting note with her fiery dancing.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Joan Woodbury put up a fight to play her role in Walter Wanger's "Algiers," now at the Columbia Theatre, without shoes—

and won her point when Charles Boyer supported her stand. Miss Woodbury plays the part of a characterless, dull-witted young girl in the romantic young of Algiers, and points out that "such a girl would probably never have had on a pair of shoes in her life."

"Besides," said the young actress, "her personality must be expressed in her slouching walk and in her entire body, and shoes are definitely not a part of such a picture."

PLAZA THEATRE

When Hal Roach, who has for so long been associated solely with comedy, decides to produce a drama, it is news. And "Captain Fury," which is his latest production for United Artists and is now showing at the Plaza Theatre, is certainly a drama.

Starring Brian Aherne and Victor McLaglen, and having as its setting Australia in the turbulent era of its colonization, the picture is as replete with thrills as Roach's previous productions have been with laughs. Roach, moreover, has directed the film himself, and the fact that it is the first drama he has ever directed, and the first picture of any kind in five years, makes "Captain Fury" even more newsworthy.

OAK BAY THEATRE

One of the strangest meetings in Hollywood occurred when Laurence Olivier, Merle Oberon and Hugh Williams met the three children who portray them as youngsters in early sequences in Samuel Goldwyn's "Wuthering Heights," romantic film drama, showing at the Oak Bay Theatre. They were highly amused to encounter themselves as children and to view their own childhoods "face to face," so to speak.

"Wuthering Heights" was directed by William Wyler from the screen-play written jointly by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur.

Tomorrow evening members of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors and others interested in the work of the association will make a trip to Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake for an official "burning of the mortgage" ceremony.

MacMillan with a little Eskimo girl

Hearing the crashing and crunching as the bow kept striking against ice, Kennett wondered whether he could live to tell the tale. The noise kept on so long, however, that he grew used to it, and when he lay down to rest it lulled him to sleep.

The adventurers were now hundreds of miles north of the Arctic circle. They were, in fact, getting near the northern end of Greenland.

Their most northerly port was a tiny village known as Etah, and at this place they were greeted by three Eskimo men who had come to know Commander MacMillan during a visit he had made before.

The Eskimos in and around Etah live the "farthest north." Kennett found they were spending the summer in sealskin tents known as "tupiks." Their stone igloos had been opened at the top, for the yearly "airing."

At Etah, MacMillan's party met a party led by Richard E. Byrd. Byrd was at this time--1925--making an attempt to use airplanes to explore the Arctic. He had brought three "knocked-down" airplanes to northern Greenland. They were put together, and some flying was done with them, but the attempt did not meet much success. In a later year Byrd was to fly across the North Pole in an airplane.

In company with Dr. Koeltz, a scientist interested in birds and fish, Kennett left Etah for a short journey farther to the north. They traveled aboard a dory which was fitted with an outboard motor as well as with oars.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, AUGUST 3, 1939

In the morning hours a benefic aspect rules followed by mildly active adverse influences, according to astrology. The sway encourages merchandising.

This is not an auspicious rule for mining or miners. Loss of valuable claims of men who have worked them will cause serious disappointment.

Search for rare minerals will be made by scientifically trained prospectors. Fluorescent specimens will be sighted by use of violet ray lamps.

Women may find this a dull day socially. It is likely to be disappointing to girls engaged in summer flirtations.

Amusements will not be sought by many persons today. Weather conditions in many places will keep people from theatres or places that attract crowds.

Horse racing will attract attention in many places this month. Horses carrying black and white or green and chocolate may be especially lucky. The stars encourage the wooing of luck.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fairly good fortune, but they must avoid changes and follow their intuition. The young will be swayed by romance.

Children born on this day probably will be sensitive and kindly. These subjects of Leo may be proud, trustworthy and intelligent. Many are extremely fond of animals.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

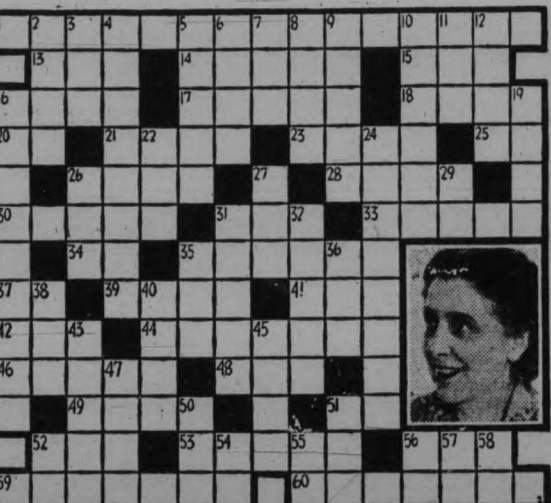

DEAR MISS DIX--I am a girl 12 years of age and an only child. My mother has filed suit for divorce. My mother married young and my father is quite a bit older than she is. When they were first married my father had a good job, but he gambled some and sometimes we were hungry and sometimes we would not hear from him for several weeks. We moved from town to town. When I was old enough to start to school we moved to a small town where my mother started going to dances. She soon fell in love, or thought she did, with a boy. My father did not know about this. He was good to her except when he would throw spells. He had these spells when she would stay out late at night. He would go up the street saying he was going to kill some man he was mad at. My mother says she does not love my father, but he says he loves her. But they both want the custody of me and I do not know what to do. Do you think either should have me? Or what should I do? I love them both.

Answer: Poor little kiddie, to know so much of the sordid side of life before you have really begun to live; to have your little soul vexed with the problems and tragedies of grown-ups while you are still so young you should have nothing more difficult to decide than whether to put a pink dress or a blue dress on your dolly.

If there is any manhood left in your father your plight should steady him and make him realize that he must give up all of his shiftless ways and provide you a proper home in which you can grow up into being the sort of a woman that your letter makes me feel you could be. He should put you in some good school where the influences would be good, where fine women would form your character and you would be given an education that would fit you to make an honest and honorable living for yourself in a few years.

Your father must realize that the influence of a mother who runs around to dance halls and stays out at night with her boy friends is not the one in which a little girl should be brought up. Also, that no matter how straight you try to go yourself, you cannot escape being smeared with the scandal that covers her. And that will be a terrible handicap for you all through life.

RANKING PITCHERS ARE MAULING IN BIG LEAGUE

Jack Knott and a helpful two-run homer by Larry Rosenthal.

COAST LEAGUE

Little Dominic Dallassandro, San Diego outfielder who is leading the Coast League in batting, was an unpopular guy with the Seattle baseball club today.

Dallassandro connected for a sharp single in the ninth inning at San Diego last night to score pitcher Pat Tobin with the run that gave San Diego a 5 to 4 win over the first-place Rainiers.

With Los Angeles' 3 to 2 win over Sacramento, the Seattle loss cut the Rainiers' lead to 3½ games.

Tobin, who relieved Howard Craghead on the padre mound in the second, opened the ninth with a triple, and came home on Dallassandro's single after John Jensen had walked and George McDonald had popped out.

Los Angeles got an unearned run in the fifth at Sacramento to break a streak of 23 innings without scoring a run, then tied the score in the seventh and won in the ninth with a double by Jimmy Collins which scored Charley English.

Jess Flores beat Bill Schmidt in a pitchers' duel.

Ed Levy, lanky first baseman Oakland just received from Newark of the International League, drove in four of the Oaks' seven runs with a double and a triple as Oakland beat San Francisco 7 to 5 at Oakland.

At Hollywood the rising Portland Beavers set the Hollywood Stars deeper in the basement by winning a see-saw game 5 to 5 on Johnny Frederick's sacrifice fly which scored Harry Rosenberg. The Beavers scored three runs in the first on manager Bill Sweeney's triple.

Gardeners See Fine Exhibits

Informal Show
Features Meeting of Horticultural Society

Members of the Victoria Horticultural Society gathered in the Council Chamber of the City Hall last night and heard excellent advice on preparation of flowers for exhibition from George A. Robinson, seed grower of Elk Lake, and a frequent judge at horticultural shows.

Mr. Robinson spoke when Rev. Robert Connell, who was to have been guest speaker, was taken ill. Mr. Connell will deliver his talk, "Gardens of the Sea," at a future meeting.

V. W. Ahlers, 3228 Seaton Road, won the special prize donated by W. G. Darling, head gardener at Government House, for his exhibit of one each flowering plant, fern and foliage plant in pots not larger than seven inches. Mrs. R. H. Ludbrook, 1670 Earl Street, took second prize in this interesting event, in which many fine specimens were seen.

The monthly competition was for sweet peas and cauliflower. Alex Mitchell, 1256 Yates Street, won first place in the floral class, with his display of 12 magnificent blooms. Mrs. Ludbrook was given second place.

Fred Mitchell, 980 Monterey Avenue, was placed high for his head of cauliflower, with A. E. Powell, 225 Maddock Avenue, second.

Final plans were made for the society's annual picnic, which will be held this year on Saturday, August 19, at the Dominion Government Experimental Farm at Sidney.

Burrards Defeat Richmond 15 to 10

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Burrards added a couple more points to their season total today and returned again to that now familiar first-place spot in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League.

Last night the season's pace setters turned back Richmond Farmers, 15 to 10, to break their two-way tie for first place with New Westminster Adanacs. Burrards now have 30 points, Adanacs 28, New Westminster Salmonbellies 22, Richmond 14 and North Shore Indians—who have won only one game this year—two points.

Man Captured After Bank Hold-up

Constable Makes Capture at Gun-point in Bala, Ont., Outskirts

BALA, Ont. (CP)—A man giving his name as Edward Davies of Montreal was arrested on the outskirts of Bala today in connection with a robbery of the Royal Bank of Canada branch a few hours earlier.

Davies was captured at gun-point by Provincial Constable R. G. Beatty on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks near the Muskoka district summer resort. Police said they found $200 in $2 bills and a revolver on Davies.

Two armed bandits herded three men into the vault of the bank and escaped with $1,500 in a stolen automobile that was found later a mile from the town.

The men, one armed with a revolver and the other with a sawed-off shotgun, held up the bank manager, Lloyd Porter; a teller, Douglas Adams, and W. A. Sheffield, 90, the only customer in the bank at the time of the robbery.

The bandits overlooked $1,000 in cash in the teller's cage where they grabbed the $1,500 off the counter.

Tarkington Play Holds Republics Best

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me. (AP)—Communism is just "too darned much trouble."

Thus Booth Tarkington dismissed the Soviet ideology in his newest dramatic effort, a subtle comedy called "Karabash," which was given its world premiere in the Garrick Players' Summer Theatre here last night—just three days after the author's 70th birthday.

Although the literary gentleman disclaimed any attempt at moral pointing, the conclusion was unmistakable that "a republic is the best practical form of government."

So the title-character, warmly portrayed by Harry Townes, discovered in his futile attempt to convert Americans with other Pogolians—people of a mythical country under Moscow's thumb. Karabash figured that one of the most important things he learned was that "in America you don't preach revolution, you talk politics."

On the Prairies

FIRST WHEAT OF '39 REACHES ELEVATORS

CALGARY (CP)—Believed to be the first load of wheat to be delivered to any elevator in Alberta this season, the Alberta Wheat Pool received a load of wheat from Henry Neufeld, Purple Springs, yesterday.

NO HORSES ASLEEP

CALGARY—Thanks to the co-operation of farmers and the rigid campaign carried on by horse breeding associations to vaccinate animals, not a single case of encephalomyelitis—sleeping sickness—had been reported in Alberta this year, according to Dr. John C. Hargrave, district veterinary inspector, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

GET GOVERNMENT JOB

EDMONTON—Prominent Calgary barrister, C. S. Blanchard, K.C., has been appointed agent of the Attorney-General in Calgary, it was announced by provincial officials today. He succeeds A. L. Smith, K.C., who resigned about two weeks ago.

WHEAT KING

REGINA—H. J. Davis, Edfield, Sask., is Saskatchewan's 1939 wheat king. At the grain show here yesterday he was awarded the grand championship trophy for his wheat with a sample of Reward.

TRACTOR INJURIES FATAL

CALGARY—A farmer at Carleton Place, 29 years, Hans C. Lausen, 44, died in hospital yesterday, from injuries received several weeks ago in a tractor accident.

DUKE AT CALGARY

CALGARY—Arriving here from the east yesterday the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland and their party exchanged greetings with friends and left for Innisfail district by motor car. The party expects to be in Vancouver Saturday, where it will board the duke's yacht to cruise northward to Alaska and across the Pacific to Australia.

VEGREVILLE Alta. — Scattered hail south and east of Vegreville caused 20 to 50 per cent damage to crops Sunday night. Heavy rain accompanied the hail.

IMPERIAL VETS MEET

WINNIPEG—Delegates to the first Dominion convention of the newly-organized British Imperial Comrades' Association Sunday chose W. S. Lover of St. Thomas, Ont., as their president. Other officials elected: G. N. McKay, Hamilton, first vice-president, and J. B. Anderson, Regina, second vice-president.

PASTOR C.C.F. CANDIDATE

BEAUSÉJOUR, Man. — Rev. Stanley H. Knowles will contest Springfield constituency for the C.C.F. in the next federal election. Present member for the riding is J. M. Turner, Liberal.

DROWNED IN DITCH

CALGARY — Warned many times not to play on the irrigation ditch in Ogden, four miles east of here, John Ferrar, 13, and his brother, Lawrence, 12, rode a raft yesterday on the ditch, and John drowned when both lads became panicky as the raft drifted and dived into the water. Lawrence reached shore safely.

CORAL IN PEACE RIVER

HARCOURT, Alta. — Reminder of the ancient warm sea which once covered the Peace River district, a coral fossil was found last week on the McNaught farm near this Peace River settlement. It appeared to be of the same minute animal composition as reefs and islands in the South Seas now.

New Service Organization

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Delegates to the American Newspaper Guild's sixth annual convention considered today a move to organize employees of the three major United States news services, whose labor policies were described by Vice-president Morris Watson as belonging to "the social dark ages."

Watson urged the establishment of three regional organizing committees to bring employees of the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service within the guild.

SEATTLE (AP)—British Columbia's Indians were praised as "highly progressive" yesterday by Willis Braun of Wheaton, Ill., college anthropologist who arrived from a six-weeks' study among the western Canadian natives.

"The Indians in western British Columbia are organizing a native brotherhood of British Columbia and other groups to better the economic circumstances of the redmen," he said. "Is it any wonder, to do not by increasing wages, but by teaching better methods of householding."

EXECUTIONS AT BOSTON CRITICIZED

Man Substituting for Veteran at Switch Takes 40 Minutes for Two

BOSTON (AP)—A double electrocution in which a mysterious executioner, known only as "Mr. X," required nearly 40 minutes to put two young hold-up slayers to death was denounced as "example of inhumanity" today, while state officials explained that the substitute executioner was "not as expert" as the veteran Robert G. Elliott.

The criticism came from Herbert Parsons, president of the Massachusetts Council for the Abolition of the Death Penalty, after the early morning electrocution of Wallace Green, 20, and Walter St. Sauveur, 19, for the $350 hold-up slaying of William Phillips, middle-aged Somerville, Mass., grocer, May 31, 1938.

"Mr. X" was brought from "out of the state" to substitute for the ailing Elliott, Massachusetts' official executioner, ill in bed for a month.

Previously physicians had explained Green's "unusually strong heart" necessitated the application of five separate shocks to his body during a period of approximately 20 minutes.

Dr. William Brickley, medical examiner, was quoted as saying, however, that Green had not suffered because "he was unconscious after the first shock."

The voltage in the electric chair was increased, Arthur Lyman said, when St. Sauveur sat down and only three shocks were applied before he was pronounced dead.

SCORE SEEK JOB OF EXECUTIONER

Applications Received in Pennsylvania for Post at Chair

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A score of men, including a 24-year-old fellow with a "bad foot" who "can't stand what you call hard work," seek to succeed ailing Robert G. Elliott as Pennsylvania's official executioner.

Among other applicants for the job of throwing the switch on the state's electric chair are: A discouraged painter, who offers cut rates.

A Pittsburgh electric welder and steel brazer whose last job "required the handling of 2,200 volts of electricity."

A would-be "electric cutler" and a 170-pound steel worker and a farmer who wants to be "lexicuter."

The job pays $250 per switch throw.

None of the applicants may get the job. "Mr. X," an understudy to Elliott, is standing by and probably will send to death the next batch of condemned criminals marked for the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary, Bellefonte.

Elliott, reported "getting better" in his New York home today, has electrocuted 110 men and one woman in Pennsylvania since 1926 and also served other eastern states as executioner.

Questions On British Financing of Japanese

LONDON (CP)—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, parried a suggestion in the Commons that he take action to stop alleged financing by London firms of Japanese purchases in Australia.

Morgan Phillips Price, Labor, asked yesterday "if he (Sir John) is aware that Japanese purchases of Australian wool and other commodities are being financed by London banking houses, and if he will take steps to secure that this financial assistance shall cease and that such a proportion of these purchases as are suitable shall be diverted to Britain for war stores?"

"I have no reason to believe," Sir John answered, "that London institutions are increasing financial credits open to Japan."

Stated Hepburn Not To Attend King Dinner

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Globe and Mail said in a news-page story this morning that Premier Hepburn and other Ontario cabinet ministers would not attend the testimonial banquet to be tendered Prime Minister Mackenzie King here August 8.

"None would discuss the situation, but it is learned on good authority that some have already declined their banquet invitation with the proverbial 'regrets,'" said the newspaper. "Others who are out of the city on extended vacations have, it is understood, been spared even this necessity."

The Globe and Mail said many private Liberal members of the Ontario legislature also would decline invitations to the dinner, preferring "not to differ from the position which Premier Hepburn will take."

ROYAL MESSAGE TO MRA ASSEMBLY

Delegates From 25 Countries End Sessions at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Delegates from 25 countries were homeward bound today after attending the Second World Moral Rearmament Assembly, which drew greetings from King George and Queen Elizabeth as well as the leaders of other countries.

The delegates, many of them clad in the colorful costumes of their countries, took over Treasure Island, scene of the Golden Gate International Exposition, for a day-long program yesterday after closing their 10-day meeting at Monterey.

Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman of New York and London, founder of the Oxford Group and initiator of moral rearmament, said in a nationwide broadcast that moral rearmament was "not a new denomination but a new determination above creed, party and point of view."

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, British tennis ace, speaking on the same program, said he had experienced 14 years of international tennis, "but these were nothing to the satisfaction of the greatest game—moral rearmament. Based on the principle of sportsmanship, clean living and teamwork, it should fire the hearts of sportsmen all over the world."

The day's activities, which began with a 6 a.m. short-wave broadcast to Asia, Australia, South Africa and the Far East, closed last night with another short-wave broadcast to northern British Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and the Far East.

Aid Planned for Scottish Farmers

LONDON (CP)—The special committee studying economic conditions in the highlands and islands of Scotland has recommended a special expenditure of nearly $1,000,000 ($4,680,000) during the next five years to aid farmers and improve the forestry services, Lieut. Col. John Colville, Secretary of State for Scotland, told the House of Commons yesterday.

An increase of about $300,000 during the five-year period was suggested in subsidies to local authorities to aid in drainage, fertilization, destruction of insect pests and agricultural teaching and training.

The balance, estimated at $655,000 will be paid as a subsidy to aid the forestry services, Col. Colville said.

A convention of women's clubs adopted the word "homemaker" to replace "housewife."

DOUKHOBORS BUY KOOTENAY LANDS

Way Opened for Named Group to Deal With Sun Life

BRILLIANT, B.C. (CP)—Nearly 2,000 Doukhobors from various parts of British Columbia gathered here yesterday and celebrated formation of the Named Doukhobor group—a section of the Russian religious sect, numbering about 5,000 in the Dominion.

The assembly was told by John Verigin, grandson of Peter Verigin II, Doukhobor leader who died in 1938, and Evdokia Verigin, widow of Peter Lordly Verigin and John's great-grandmother, that they could purchase forested Doukhobor community lands without opposition from their leaders.

The Named Doukhobors include independent Doukhobors and others who were once independent but have since returned to the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, business organization of orthodox members of the sect.

Young Verigin, acting head of the Doukhobors in Canada, and his great-grandmother said the named Doukhobors would be permitted to buy—either individually or as communities—lands mortgaged to the Sun Life Assurance Company. The company has obtained a court order authorizing it to foreclose thousands of acres of Christian Community holdings, including many farms located near this predominantly-Doukhobor-settled West Kootenay town.

Formerly known as Community Doukhobors, the Named Doukhobors did not adopt their new name until 1935 or 1936. It was only last year that August 1 was set as the celebration date.

It was announced yesterday that a meeting would be held October 1 to decide what course to follow in connection with purchase by Doukhobors of land now held by the Sun Life Company.

The meeting will be attended by 28 trustees of the Spiritual Community of Christ, a new order which Peter Verigin II, just before his death, was trying to establish to replace the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood.

CRICKET SCHOOL

The cricket school supervised by Reg Wenman and F. A. Sparks for the Provincial Recreation Association will continue during the month of August, it was announced yesterday. Classes are for youngsters from eight to 13 years of age and are free to all who wish to learn the game. Sessions will be held twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 5.
